Nixon, Franco Meet, Confer On Bases Pact

President Ends
Yugoslav Visit
3 Hours Earlier

MADRID (AP) — President Nixon arrived for a visit to Franco's Spain today after making the first visit by a U.S. president to Communist Yugoslavia.

Spain's leader, Gen. Francisco Franco, arrived at Madrid's Barajas Airport minutes before Nixon's plane landed. Wearing the uniform of a general in the Spanish army, Franco waited at the bottom of the ladder as the President and Mrs. Nixon got off the plane.

The two chiefs of state shook hands warmly. Franco's wife, Dona Carmen Polo, gave Nixon's wife, Pat, a bouquet of flowers decorated with the Spanish flag.

It was the second time Nixon and Franco had met. They first met in Barcelona in 1963 when the U.S. chief executive visited Spain as a private citizen.

In Belgrade three hours earlier, President Tito, Mrs. Tito and top Yugoslavian officials had accompanied the Nixons and their party to the airport and had waved goodbye as the presidential jet, Air Force One, took off into an overcast sky.

The President's airliner touched down in Madrid shortly after noon.

Nixon told Franco he was "greatly honored to be the first President to visit Spain" since President Dwight D. Eisenhower's stop here in 1959.

After the ceremonies at the airport, which were colorful and warm, the two chiefs of state drove off to Madrid in a closed limousine flanked by motorcycle outriders.

Nixon's route took him past the Plaza of Eisenhower named after the late president's visit.

Nixon's six-minute speech laid emphasis on military cooperation between the two countries but also stressed social and economic relations.

His and Franco's remarks on the new agreement on U.S. bases in Spain underlined the determination of both governments to carry them out by executive agreement despite U.S. Senate opposition and mild criticism of the pacts in Spain.

Judge Rules Antibusing Law Illegal

BUFFALO (AP) — A panel of three federal judges says New York State's widely copied antibusing law is unconstitutional.

The law prohibits involuntary busing of pupils to achieve racial balance. It applies only to appointed school boards, of which the state has only about a dozen.

"The statute . . . operates to disadvantage a minority, a racial minority, in the political process," the judges said Thursday. They held it thus violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment.

A spokesman for the state attorney general's office said she assumed the state would appeal to the Supreme Court, possible in cases decided by a three-judge federal panel.

The New York law was used as a model for antibusing statutes in several Southern states seeking to slow desegregation, including Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama.

The suit was brought by six parents of Buffalo school children. Among them was Donald Lee, president of the state National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Three of the parents are white, three black.

One of the parents, Erwin Johnson, said he joined the suit because he felt "a totally white school creates a false environment" for the children.

Boost Great Lakes States As '4th U.S. Seacoast'

Delay Vote On Social Security Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on the Senate Finance Committee have fashioned an attractive election-year package for the 26 million Americans now receiving Social Security payments.

But to the dismay of some senators, particularly those running for re-election this year, it now appears the Senate will not vote on the package until after the Nov. 3 elections.

The committee, voting almost entirely on party lines with Republicans in opposition, approved Thursday a 10 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security benefits next January instead of the 5 per cent voted by the House.

And, for the approximately 40 per cent of retired individuals who get less than $100 a month in Social Security, the panel set that amount as the minimum payment.

The House version, supported by the White House, would boost the present $64 minimum payment by 5 per cent to $67.20.

The Senate panel, which called another closed session today, has a lot more work to be done on the Social Security bill before it is ready for Senate debate.

Chairman Russell B. Long,

D-La., told reporters he is hopeful his committee can complete work on the measure by Oct. 9 — a week before adjournment is expected.

However, the bill will raise so many complex issues that it is expected to take several days after that for the panel to write its report.

This led Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and other members to say they do not see how it will be possible to debate the bill until after the elections.

This is especially true, they said, because it now appears the bill will be the vehicle for action on Nixon's welfare reform proposal — the family assistance plan.

The House passed Social Security and welfare reform as separate bills.

But Long and other Finance members said whatever the committee does on welfare will be in the form of an amendment to the Social Security measure.

The increases in Social Security payments voted by the Senate panel would increase costs and benefits by $3.7 billion over the House version.

The panel cut back on some other liberalizing provisions in the House measure to save about $1 billion, leaving $2.7 billion still to finance.

Maritime Bill Will Promote Shipping Boom

WASHINGTON (AP) — A longtime dream of turning the Great Lakes into a thriving "fourth major seacoast" may be fulfilled under a far-reaching maritime bill on the verge of passage by Congress.

With its complex tax subsidies, tax breaks, and debt-forgiving features, officials say, the bill should clear the way for revitalizing the sagging shipping industry on the lakes.

"It puts the lakes on an equal footing with the other three coasts," said Robert J. Blackwell, assistant administrator of the Maritime Administration. "It could be a turning point."

The bill is primarily designed to rebuild the nation's merchant marine fleet but amendments adopted in the House and Senate expanded it to give a big boost to Great Lakes shipping.

The key provision appears to be opening a lucrative tax loophole to Great Lakes shipping companies, allowing them to defer corporate income tax payments in return for pledges to put the money into a special fund for new ship construction.

The hope is that the tax deferral provision will encourage new capital and more ships in the Great Lakes industry, Blackwell said.

Prison Rioters Demand Meet With Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 300 rioting prisoners at the Queens House of Detention are holding five hostages and demanding a meeting with elected officials, including Mayor John V. Lindsay.

The mayor "hasn't decided" on such a meeting, said Corrections Commissioner George McGrath when he emerged at 3 a.m. today from a 1½-hour talk with the inmates. Mayoral aides have kept Lindsay informed of developments, he added.

McGrath, who met with prisoners three times after the riot erupted shortly after midnight Thursday, said he found none of their grievances unreasonable.

The prisoners, who grabbed guards' keys during a lunch break and unlocked all the cells, handed over a list of 25 demands, complaining of overcrowding, unsanitary conditions, slow trials and alleged inhumanity by some guards.

The inmates claimed "100 per cent control" of the building, and police—some armed with shotguns—surrounded it but made no move to subdue them.

During an evening meeting—televised at the prisoners' request—six inmates presented their grievances to McGrath, mayoral aides, members of the Legal Aid Society and newsmen.

"You are lucky no one has been killed," said Victor Martinez, one of the prisoners. "Mark my word, it will happen if we do not get what we want."

McGrath said he was allowed to see the hostages one at a time. They include a Department of Corrections captain, three guards and a civilian cook.

"They appeared in good health and reasonably good spirits," McGrath said. Earlier, two other hostages, both guards, had been released as an act of good faith.

The witnesses presumably testified concerning the confrontation May 4 between anti-war demonstrators and Guard troops which left four students dead and nine wounded.

By next Wednesday the jury, which is meeting in the Portage County Courthouse, will have heard some 300 witnesses. It is expected to take about another week to prepare its findings.

Witnesses are under court order not to discuss their testimony with newsmen.

Abrams Progressing At Base Hospital

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams was reported "progressing nicely" today at a U.S. Army hospital where he is recuperating after collapsing while attending a military ceremony Wednesday.

A U.S. Command spokesman said he did not know when the 56-year-old commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam would leave the hospital.

U.S., Russia Vie Over Discovery Of New Element

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An international donnybrook flared today between Soviet and American scientists over the honor of claiming the discovery of a will-o-the-wisp chemical element which could lead to practical benefits for man.

A Soviet nuclear scientist insisted that Russian researchers—not American ones—were the first to discover the heavy-weight radioactive chemical element—No. 105 in the periodic table.

Researcher Georgii N. Flerov accused the Atomic Energy Commission of ignoring a Soviet technical document which he said buttresses his country's claim.

But the captain of the U.S. team which also claims initial discovery of the element quickly indicated the Americans were sticking to their guns.

The newfound element—named "hahnium" by the Americans—is artificially made by bombarding another element with nuclear rays. It's a veritable will-o-the-wisp, with a radioactive "half-life" of only 1.6 seconds.

U.S. scientists contend the discovery might help toward artificially creating—or even ultimately finding on earth—a long-predicted exotic form of lead which might have practical uses.

The still-undiscovered element is No. 114, tentatively dubbed "eka-lead," and is the target of worldwide research.

Last April 27, a team at University of California at Berkeley, headed by Dr. Albert Ghiorso, announced discovery of element No. 105 to a meeting of the American Physical Society. And the AEC put out an announcement of its own the next day.

Flerov, in a letter published today in the journal Science, said Soviet scientists had synthesized element No. 105 early this year and had published an account of it in February—two months prior to the report of the American discovery.

He added: "Neither the statement of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission . . . of 28 April, 1970 . . . nor the (Ghiorso statement) referred to our work which was done in Dubna and published two months earlier."

In its April 28 announcement the AEC said:

"Soviet scientists, in the last two years, have reported the observation of what they believe to be a few atoms of element 105."

"Ghiorso and his associates attempted to confirm the Soviet findings by more sophisticated methods without success and they conclude that the Soviet data are in error."

Israelis Charge Egyptians Still Installing Missiles

TEL AVIV (AP) — Egyptian missile batteries are still going up in the standstill zone of the Suez Canal despite the death of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, the Israelis charged today.

A military spokesman said information obtained a day earlier showed the Egyptians were continuing to construct missile sites and batteries within 19 miles of the waterway.

A complaint has been headed to the U.N. cease-fire observation team, the spokesman added. It was Israel's 20th complaint of Egyptian missile construction in the canal zone since the U.S.-proposed cease-fire and military standstill took effect Aug. 7.

Many Israelis had expected the alleged missile buildup to be halted, at least temporarily, following Nasser's death Monday.

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu predicts the war in Vietnam will be reduced to a relatively minor frontier action within three years.

In a wide-ranging interview, he denounced foreign critics, denied there were any policy differences with the United States, confirmed he opposed the U.S. halt to the bombing of North Vietnam in November 1968 and saw complete failure for the Paris peace talks.

Thieu said the war would end by the pacification of the South, the decline of North Vietnam's war-making potential through manpower losses, morale problems, divided leadership and the loss of "the United States as the imperialistic bogeyman, through the carrying out of the Nixon doctrine, which I entirely approve."

The president said the greatest accomplishments of his administration had been to "bring security to more than 95 per cent of the population."

He denied that he held any veto over U.S. policy because of

Police Shooting At Jackson State Called 'Unreasonable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — White policemen who fired a killing barrage of bullets into a crowd of chanting Jackson State College students were confident they would not be punished, the President's Commission on Campus Unrest has concluded.

The panel found the deaths of two students and the wounding of 12 others May 14 were rooted in an "unreasonable unjustified overreaction" by police.

The report, released Thursday, drew only limited early response in Mississippi. Gov. John Bell Williams and Jackson Mayor Russell Davis said they wanted to read it before commenting.

Atty. Gen. A. E. Summer said, "My statement when they came here was that it had all the appearance of being a kangaroo court."

"Nothing has happened to change my mind," he said. Warner Buxton, president of the Student Government Association at the nearly all-black school, praised the report, but expressed little hope it would bring changes to law enforcement in Mississippi.

Concerning police attitudes toward the demonstrators, the reports said:

"A significant cause of the deaths and injuries at Jackson State College is the confidence of white officers that if they fire weapons during a black campus disturbance, they will face neither stern departmental discipline nor criminal prosecution or conviction."

Despite conflicting claims of sniper fire from a dormitory, the commission said, "Even if we were to assume two shots were fired from a window in the west wing of Alexander Hall, the 28-second fusillade in retaliation was excessive."

There is construction activity going on," the senator said, "but it would be highly conjectural to conclude" the work is on a sub base. "Facts are much too skimpy to draw conclusions now."

But, Church added, the Pentagon is keeping an eye on the work.

"In light of what happened in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis, we can't disregard" any Soviet construction on the island 90 miles from U.S. shores, he said.

The Pentagon said last week there were solid indications construction was under way on a Soviet base on Cuba's south shore, at Cienfuegos.

He said the Communists had succeeded in exploiting the 1968 U.S. election campaign despite military catastrophes, and that the bombing halt, called just before the election, was a mistake, although he expressed gratitude and admiration for Johnson.

Thieu said the Paris talks would never get anywhere because Hanoi would then have to explain to its people why 600,000 of their countrymen had died in a war against the South that they had not won.

Persuade Army, Guerrillas To Stop Jordan Outbreak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jordan's new government said Thursday it would recognize only one Palestinian guerrilla organization, Al Fatah, headed by Yasir Arafat.

Arab truce teams persuaded guerrillas and army troops to stop shooting at each other in Palestinian strongholds in northern Jordan.

Maj. Adnan Abu Odeh, Jordan's information minister, said the move to recognize only Al Fatah was not a measure against the Palestinians. "We are against chaos and disorder," he said.

"I tell you, the struggle in Jordan has been between the government and the Marxists."

Odeh suggested that members of other guerrilla groups join Al Fatah. The Jordanian government has offered a $14,000 reward for the capture of Dr. George Habash, head of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a pro-Peking guerrilla group responsible for the recent spate of airline hijackings to the Middle East.

In Beirut, Lebanon, an Al Fatah spokesman said Amman government forces and guerrillas were persuaded to lay down their weapons at Ramtha, a Jordanian border town on the Damascus-Amman highway, the commandos' principal supply route from Syria.

The guerrilla spokesman said Ramtha and nearby Irbid, Jordan's second largest city, were quiet after reports of shelling by Jordanian troops earlier in the day.

Jordan's King Hussein said the truce that ended his country's civil war was largely the work of Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser who died Monday of a heart attack.

A correspondent for the Parisian newspaper Figaro, Jean-Francois Chauvel, wrote that Hussein said Nasser "threw all his weight into the balance" in negotiations for the cease-fire and "it was thanks to him" that it succeeded.

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — The special state grand jury investigating four days of violence at Kent State University in May is expected to complete its hearings by next Wednesday, and Robert L. Balyeat, in charge of the investigation, said the jury may return some indictments after the hearings.

Balyeat, of Lima, was named by Attorney General Paul Brown to head the investigation ordered by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

John Bastin, a KSU graduate student from Kent, was among four Kent students called to testify Thursday. The jury heard Wednesday from Capt. C. C. Hayth, commander of the Warren Ohio Highway Patrol District, in which Kent is located, and three members of the Ohio National Guard.

The witnesses presumably testified concerning the confrontation May 4 between anti-war demonstrators and Guard troops which left four students dead and nine wounded.

By next Wednesday the jury, which is meeting in the Portage County Courthouse, will have heard some 300 witnesses. It is expected to take about another week to prepare its findings.

Witnesses are under court order not to discuss their testimony with newsmen.

By next Wednesday the jury, which is meeting in the Portage County Courthouse, will have heard some 300 witnesses. It is expected to take about another week to prepare its findings. Witnesses are under court order not to discuss their testimony with newsmen.

Maritime Bill Will Promote Shipping Boom

WASHINGTON (AP) — A longtime dream of turning the Great Lakes into a thriving "fourth major seacoast" may be fulfilled under a far-reaching maritime bill on the verge of passage by Congress.

With its complex tax subsidies, tax breaks, and debt-forgiving features, officials say, the bill should clear the way for revitalizing the sagging shipping industry on the lakes.

"It puts the lakes on an equal footing" with the other three coasts," said Robert J. Blackwell, assistant administrator of the Maritime Administration. "It could be a turning point."

The bill is primarily designed to rebuild the nation's merchant marine fleet but amendments adopted in the House and Senate expanded it to give a big boost to Great Lakes shipping.

The key provision appears to be opening a lucrative tax loophole to Great Lakes shipping companies, allowing them to defer corporate income tax payments in return for pledges to put the money into a special fund for new ship construction.

The hope is that the tax deferral provision will encourage new capital and more ships in the Great Lakes industry, Blackwell said.

Prison Rioters Demand Meet With Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 300 rioting prisoners at the Queens House of Detention are holding five hostages and demanding a meeting with elected officials, including Mayor John V. Lindsay.

The mayor "hasn't decided" on such a meeting, said Corrections Commissioner George McGrath when he emerged at 3 a.m. today from a 1½-hour talk with the inmates. Mayoral aides have kept Lindsay informed of developments, he added.

McGrath, who met with prisoners three times after the riot erupted shortly after midday Thursday, said he found none of their grievances unreasonable.

The prisoners, who grabbed guards' keys during a lunch break and unlocked all the cells, handed over a list of 25 demands, complaining of overcrowding, unsanitary conditions, slow trials and alleged inhumanity by some guards.

The inmates claimed "100 per cent control" of the building, and police—some armed with shotguns—surrounded it but made no move to subdue them.

During an evening meeting—televised at the prisoners' request—six inmates presented their grievances to McGrath, mayoral aides, members of the Legal Aid Society and newsmen.

"You are lucky no one has been killed," said Victor Martinez, one of the prisoners. "Mark my word, it will happen if we do not get what we want."

McGrath said he was allowed to see the hostages one at a time. They include a Department of Corrections captain, three guards and a civilian cook.

"They appeared in good health and reasonably good spirits," McGrath said. Earlier, two other hostages, both guards, had been released as an act of good faith.

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams was reported "progressing nicely" today at a U.S. Army hospital where he is recuperating after collapsing while attending a military ceremony Wednesday.

A U.S. Command spokesman said he did not know when the 56-year-old commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam would leave the hospital.

Thieu Sees Viet War Fading Out In 3 Years

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu predicts the war in Vietnam will be reduced to a relatively minor frontier action within three years.

In a wide-ranging interview, he denounced foreign critics, denied there were any policy differences with the United States, confirmed he opposed the U.S. halt to the bombing of North Vietnam in November 1968 and saw complete failure for the Paris peace talks.

Thieu said the war would end by the pacification of the South,

the decline of North Vietnam's war-making potential through manpower losses, morale problems, divided leadership and the loss of "the United States as the imperialistic bogymen, through the carrying out of the Nixon doctrine, which I entirely approve."

The president said the greatest accomplishments of his administration had been to "bring security to more than 95 per cent of the population."

He denied that he held any veto over U.S. policy because of the alliance between his government and that of President Nixon, as some U.S. critics have charged. He said the two countries were "making common cause" and that there were no significant policy differences between them concerning war or peace.

Thieu described former President Lyndon B. Johnson as "the large measure the savior of the freedom of South Vietnam."

Discussing foreign critics, Thieu emphasized a distinction between those who justly criticize South Vietnam's shortcomings but recognize progress when it occurs, and those whose condemnations of his regime "have made no allowance for change."

He spoke of some U.S. senators as in the latter group. He described them as "not constructive, ignorant, and politically motivated." He said that most of them "never come to Vietnam" and thus were incompetent to judge the progress of developments there. He mentioned no names.

He said the Communists had succeeded in exploiting the 1968 U.S. election campaign despite military catastrophes, and that the bombing halt, called just before the election, was a mistake, although he expressed gratitude and admiration for Johnson.

Thieu said the Paris talks would never get anywhere because Hanoi would then have to explain to its people why 600,000 of their countrymen had died in a war against the South that they had not won.

INSTRUCTOR — A free karate and women's self defense demonstration will be given 7:30 P.M. Tuesday, at the local YMCA. YMCA Karate Instructor Doyle Wiggins and Dennis Sparks will conduct the evening exhibition. The YMCA's karate and women's self defense classes will start Oct. 26.

YMCA Notes And News

Karate is perhaps the most misunderstood art to hit the American scene. To the average person karate is nothing more than an activity in which violent, iron-fisted, steel-footed men break piles of concrete and stacks of boards with a single chop or one swift kick.

Such is hardly the case. In reality karate is one of the most beneficial, practical, and useful arts ever to be introduced in the United States.

First of all, karate offers one of the most effective methods of self-defense devised by mankind. Certainly no one will question the need for every person to be prepared to defend himself as statistics continue to reveal a steady rise in almost every area of major crime today.

Secondly, karate offers an excellent opportunity for one to work himself into top physical condition. Co-ordination, timing, rhythm, speed, etc., are all developed simultaneously.

Not only is karate a good physical conditioner, it is also a good mental conditioner. The concentration required in the art has proved to be very effective in building mental discipline and self-control.

Last, but not least, karate is a very enjoyable sport which offers one an opportunity to engage in competition of many degrees.

Through the YMCA karate program, each person, regardless of size, strength, athletic ability, etc., has an opportunity to engage in a very worthwhile and interesting oriental art. A good basic knowledge can be attained at low cost through the local Y's Informal Education Program starting October 26th.

The Y.M.C.A. is offering a class in basic self-defense for women and girls. This class presents an opportunity for ladies to master self-defense techniques which will equip them to protect themselves in any situation they may encounter.

It is a well known fact that it is not safe for a lady or girl to be alone on the streets of most major cities, day or night.

Most people, it seems, take the "it will never happen to me attitude." The fact of the matter is that probably the majority of females who are attacked, raped, molested, or robbed, thought "it would never happen to them." It pays to be prepared for the unexpected.

In one hour per week, for eight weeks, women can be taught enough basic self-defense methods to be prepared to cope effectively with every life-threatening or life-endangering encounter.

Thieu ...

Thieu reaffirmed South Vietnam's determination to help Cambodia if it is heavily attacked by North Vietnam, but doubted Hanoi's capability to launch a "major assault" against Cambodia.

The president said the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia and the allied attack on the Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia last spring together created a "decisive turning point in the war."

"Some say it will take the enemy nine months to recover," he continued. "I say they will never recover. Cambodia was from 1967 to 1969 a second North Vietnam, a whole rear area. The closing of the port at Kompong Som, the loss of access to the Cambodian rice harvest, and the seizure of the sanctuaries, even more than the heavy loss of men and equipment, have caused the enemy permanent paralysis."

Cloud Rips Gilligan's Tax Plans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Republican gubernatorial candidate Roger Cloud says his Democratic opponent is proposing the "heaviest, most unreasonable tax increase in Ohio history."

"John J. Gilligan's tax policies would lead to high taxes for Ohioans, unemployment for Ohioans, idle factories in Ohio and fewer jobs in Ohio," Cloud told a service club in Akron Thursday.

He said the state administration should work to protect existing jobs and provide additional ones.

Gilligan did not campaign Thursday, but House Democratic leader John C. McDonald filled in for him at a Lancaster dinner.

McDonald said the voters are not fooled by Republican polls that allegedly show Cloud and Gilligan running neck-and-neck.

When Republican leaders report a large number of voters still are undecided, McDonald asserted, they really are saying some Republicans might stay home on election day rather than vote for Democrats.

Meanwhile, Robert Taft Jr., Republican Senate candidate, told a Cincinnati civic group Thursday the campus unrest problem can be solved "only if we face up to it and prescribe remedies on the campuses themselves."

He said there have been encouraging signs "that freedom to study and students' academic freedom will be preserved."

Among these, Taft said, are the report of the Commission on Campus Unrest, polls showing most Americans feel school administrators are too lenient and a new University of Cincinnati policy to crack down on disruptions.

Taft's Democratic opponent, Howard Mezenbaum, called up on President Nixon Thursday to announce a specific timetable for full troop withdrawal from Vietnam.

He said in Cleveland that 10 years of American involvement in Southeast Asia had "tragically, painfully and completely" met any commitment this nation may have made to the government of South Vietnam.

Edwin Lawton, the American Independent Party candidate for governor, took on both the Republicans and Democrats Thursday, accusing them of degenerating government to a "rule of bums."

Politicians of both parties, use the welfare system to bribe blocks of votes, Lawton told a service club in Columbus.

At the same time, Lawton said welfare recipients "will greedily vote for the politicians promising the largest handout."

Stocks Post Modest Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices posted a modest gain early this afternoon, showing that investors seem able to ignore negative news developments when they feel like buying. Trading was moderately active.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.53 to 763.21.

Advances led more than a 2-to-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market strength came despite news reports that unemployment jumped to 5 1/2 per cent in September and that key monetary indicators contracted significantly in the week ended Wednesday.

Possible mitigating circumstances, however, came from reports that the administration called the unemployment jump misleading because figures of previous months were probably too low.

Oils, airlines, chemicals, metals, electronics, mail order-retail, and motors were generally higher. Steels and rails were mixed, while aircraft and utilities were off. Rubber issues remained unchanged.

Large blocks included 962,000 shares of British Petroleum, the sixth largest block ever traded, which went across at 9, unchanged; 110,000 of Sony at 16 1/4, off 1d; and 70,500 of SEDCO at 2 1/2, off 1/4.

British Petroleum was most active, up 1/2 to 9 1/2.

Pleads Innocent To Murder Charge

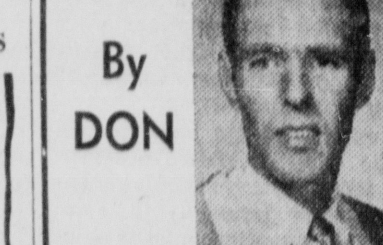

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Innocent pleas to charges of first-degree murder and assault with a deadly weapon were entered in Common Pleas Court Thursday by Donald Clary, 38, of Portsmouth.

Clary is accused of fatally shooting his ex-wife, Phillis, of South Shore, Ky., and wounding Homer Rickey, 37, of Portsmouth, Wednesday night outside a Portsmouth bar.

Donald E. Zehr, general manager of COCMP, said his company notified buyers of the 44-cent increase and Borden would not buy at that price. Asked if COCMP's action constituted a boycott, he said it was a "matter of semantics."

LOOKING AT TV

How many people know who the father of television was? His name was Philo T. Farnsworth, one of the greatest yet least publicized scientists of our generation.

Farnsworth was a teen age youth when, in 1922, he conceived a scientific idea for an all-electronic television system.

This Utah-born farm boy proposed to telecast pictures through the use of electronics, with no moving parts.

It has taken more than two decades of painstaking research to bring television to its present state of excellence.

Men Over Age 26 Ruled Too Old For Army Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System has told local draft boards that age 26 marks the border of a sanctuary they may not invade, even in hot pursuit.

At 26, explained draft Director Curt W. Tarr, a man is too old for combat duty and drafting him might only jeopardize his fellow soldiers.

Tarr explained his views in an interview after draft spokesmen conceded new regulations might allow "dozens even hundreds" of men to escape the draft by using procedural delays until their 26th birthday.

The regulations, announced

Wednesday, were in an executive order signed by President Nixon last Saturday upon the recommendation, spokesmen said, of Tarr.

"The change is affecting a very insignificant number," said a draft spokesman.

But he added, "we fully expect there will be dozens, even hundreds who do it."

The escape route of delay, however, would not be easy, he warned.

"Few will pay the price," he said, for it would take a heavy toll in skill, money, and years of uncertainty.

Those who do, however, must be replaced by other men in meeting the Pentagon's draft calls.

"Instead of these men, the system would take a couple of hundred younger, better qualified men," said the official spokesmen.

Tarr acknowledged this involved a question of fairness.

"You have to balance the safety factor for equity against the safety factor for the people who have to work with them once they get into the service," said Tarr.

He said Congress, in Selective Service legislation, had picked 19 to 26 as the desirable age limit for military induction, with the exception of doctors, whose training takes longer.

"We decided," Tarr continued, "that if 26 is a reasonable limit, then let's not go all out and get the man after he's past 26 ... you have to think about the combat situation and who will be best qualified. In practical terms, it's the only fair thing."

Men who reached age 26 without being drafted have for years been moved far down the priority list, to be drafted only in dire emergencies or certain special circumstances; the new policy does not change that.

But before last Saturday, regulations allowed boards to draft men after 26 if they had passed that border line while involved in administrative process delays within the Selective Service System.

Borden Wins Milk Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two Ohio milk producers were ordered by a federal court judge Thursday to continue delivery and sale of raw milk to the Borden Co. plant here.

Judge Joseph P. Kinneary acted on a suit filed by Borden contending a boycott by the milk producers violated the Sherman Antitrust Act.

After issuing the restraining order, Kinneary scheduled a hearing on the suit for Oct. 8.

Borden claimed the Central Ohio Cooperative Milk Producers Inc. (COCMP), and the Miami Valley Milk Producers Association (MCMVA) of Dayton refused to deliver milk to Borden unless the company agreed to pay a raw milk price of $6.75 per hundredweight, 44 cents above the federally regulated price for October.

Borden said it refused the demand because it would result in unreasonably high retail prices and place Borden at a competitive disadvantage with milk products produced outside Ohio and shipped to the Columbus market.

Donald E. Zehr, general manager of COCMP, said his company notified buyers of the 44-cent increase and Borden would not buy at that price. Asked if COCMP's action constituted a boycott, he said it was a "matter of semantics."

Sorry About Wheelies, Sir

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jack Nelson of suburban Olivette found his lawn churned up by automobile tires when he returned from a recent trip.

When Nelson got home after work Thursday, he found the damage largely repaired and a note on his front door, which said:

"Dear Sir," "We are sorry we ran over your lawn. We came today and raked it up the best we could. We won't do it anymore."

The note bore two signatures, which were not disclosed.

Backers Of Victory March Hope For Million Turnout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charging the Nixon administration is afraid of Communists, leaders of this weekend's "March for Victory" say they hope one million Americans will turn out with "flags and Bibles" to demonstrate for a military triumph in South Vietnam.

Washington police prepared for one-fourth that number. There were few, if any, early signs of confrontation.

The Rev. Carl McIntire, whose International Council of Christian Churches is organizing the rally, charges that President Nixon's "Vietnamization" of the war is deserting both the Vietnamese people and American soldiers and prisoners of war.

His erstwhile top drawing card, South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, had planned to come to the United States to address the rally but bowed out last weekend at the urging of government leaders here and in his own country.

An afternoon appearance by McIntire and a delegation of fundamentalist ministers at the Pentagon was the opening scheduled event for the weekend. A memorial service will be held on the Capitol steps tonight to honor Americans killed in the Southeast Asia war.

The march itself begins at noon Saturday, from the east end of the Mall along Pennsylvania Avenue to the Washington Monument for a rally.

At a pre-march dinner in suburban Maryland Thursday night, McIntire told a cheering crowd of 350 persons, "There'll be a hot time in the old town Saturday. We ought to have a million people in this city on Saturday."

Alternatively quoting from the Bible and newspaper clippings, he blamed Nixon and members of Congress for discouraging Ky's visit.

Local Man Fined $250 For OMVI

Randall Lee Arledge, 24, Circleville, was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to three days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants before Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb.

The charges were filed by Circleville Police.

Raymond Walisa, 23, 335 E. Ohio St., was fined $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Marilyn J. Gossard, 46, Derby, was fined $50 and costs for driving when she had no license.

George Leroy Adams, 29, Williamsport, was fined $50 and costs for speeding 100 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Ralph Anderson, 38, Route 4, was fined $15 and costs with the fine suspended for failure to stop at a stop sign.

Maritime Bill

Minn., said the "tax break and a provision for giving millions of dollars of interest owed by the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. to the U.S. Treasury "should be a boon to shipping on the lakes."

It was Mondale who won passage of an amendment canceling future interest payments owed by the seaway, as well as $22.4 million deferred interest charges.

What it means is that the seaway, built 11 years ago by the United States and Canada to step up shipping to the heart of the continent, will now be on a sound financial footing, Mondale said.

It will thus not have to raise its tolls and will be in a better position competitively to attract more shipping, the senator added.

The bill specifically designates the Great Lakes as the nation's "fourth major seacoast," a provision Mondale said puts the Maritime Administration under a positive obligation to try to assure more U.S. flag ship service on the lakes.

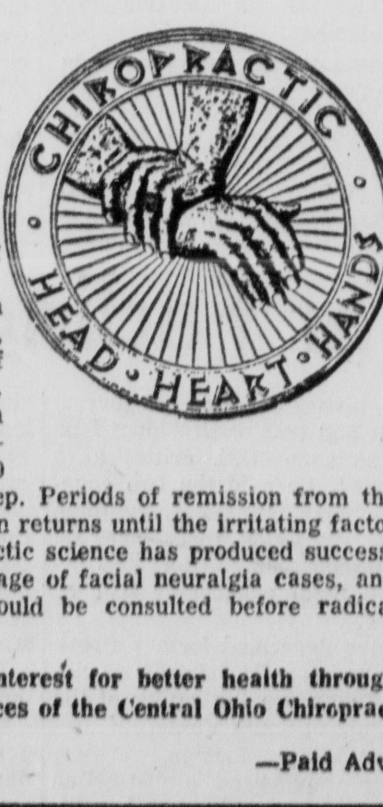

The maritime bill has been approved by House-Senate conferees and a final vote in both houses may come next week.

Pain In The Face

Neuralgia actually means "pain in a nerve" resulting from some irritating factor. In facial neuralgia the pain may be described as short, sharp, momentary bursts of excruciating pain in the face. In other cases severe pain arises spontaneously and persists for a minimum of 30 minutes often disturbing sleep. INSTRUCTOR — A free karate and women's self defense demonstration will be given 7:30 P.M. Tuesday, at the local YMCA. YMCA Karate Instructor Doyle Wiggins and Dennis Sparks will conduct the evening exhibition. The YMCA's karate and women's self defense classes will start Oct. 26.

YMCA Notes And News

Karate is perhaps the most misunderstood art to hit the American scene. To the average person karate is nothing more than an activity in which violent, iron-fisted, steel-footed men break piles of concrete and stacks of boards with a single chop or one swift kick.

Such is hardly the case. In reality karate is one of the most beneficial, practical, and useful arts ever to be introduced in the United States.

First of all, karate offers one of the most effective methods of self defense devised by mankind. Certainly no one will question the need for every person to be prepared to defend himself as statistics continue to reveal a steady rise in almost every area of major crime today.

Secondly, karate offers an excellent opportunity for one to work himself into top physical condition. Co-ordination, timing, rhythm, speed, etc., are all developed simultaneously.

Not only is karate a good physical conditioner, it is also a good mental conditioner. The concentration required in the art has proved to be very effective in building mental discipline and self-control.

Last, but not least, karate is a very enjoyable sport which offers one an opportunity to engage in competition of many degrees.

Through the YMCA karate program, each person, regardless of size, strength, athletic ability, etc., has an opportunity to engage in a very worthwhile and interesting oriental art. A good basic knowledge can be attained at low cost through the local Y's Informal Education Program starting October 26th.

The Y.M.C.A. is offering a class in basic self-defense for women and girls. This class presents an opportunity for ladies to master self-defense techniques which will equip them to protect themselves in any situation they may encounter.

It is a well known fact that it is not safe for a lady or girl to be alone on the streets of most major cities, day or night.

Most people, it seems, take the "it will never happen to me attitude." The fact of the matter is that probably the majority of females who are attacked, raped, molested, or robbed, thought "it would never happen to them." It pays to be prepared for the unexpected.

In one hour per week, for eight weeks, women can be taught enough basic self-defense methods to be prepared to cope effectively with every life-threatening or life-endangering encounter.

Thieu ...

Thieu reaffirmed South Vietnam's determination to help Cambodia if it is heavily attacked by North Vietnam, but doubted Hanoi's capability to launch a "major assault" against Cambodia.

The president said the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia and the allied attack on the Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia last spring together created a "decisive turning point in the war."

"Some say it will take the enemy nine months to recover," he continued. "I say they will never recover. Cambodia was from 1967 to 1969 a second North Vietnam, a whole rear area. The closing of the port at Kompong Som, the loss of access to the Cambodian rice harvest, and the seizure of the sanctuaries, even more than the heavy loss of men and equipment, have caused the enemy permanent paralysis."

Cloud Rips Gilligan's Tax Plans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Republican gubernatorial candidate Roger Cloud says his Democratic opponent is proposing the "heaviest, most unreasonable tax increase in Ohio history."

"John J. Gilligan's tax policies would lead to high taxes for Ohioans, unemployment for Ohioans, id'e factories in Ohio and fewer jobs in Ohio," Cloud told a service club in Akron Thursday.

He said the state administration should work to protect existing jobs and provide additional ones.

Gilligan did not campaign Thursday, but House Democratic leader John C. McDonald filled in for him at a Lancaster dinner.

McDonald said the voters are not fooled by Republican polls that allegedly show Cloud and Gilligan running neck-and-neck. When Republican leaders report a large number of voters still are undecided, McDonald asserted, they really are saying some Republicans might stay home on election day rather than vote for Democrats.

Meanwhile, Robert Taft Jr., Republican Senate candidate, told a Cincinnati civic group Thursday the campus unrest problem can be solved "only if we face up to it and prescribe remedies on the campuses themselves."

He said there have been encouraging signs "that freedom to study and students' academic freedom will be preserved."

Among these, Taft said, are the report of the Commission on Campus Unrest, polls showing most Americans feel school administrators are too lenient and a new University of Cincinnati policy to crack down on disruptions.

Taft's Democratic opponent, Howard Mezenbaum, called up on President Nixon Thursday to announce a specific timetable for full troop withdrawal from Vietnam.

He said in Cleveland that 10 years of American involvement in Southeast Asia had "tragically, painfully and completely" met any commitment this nation may have made to the government of South Vietnam.

Edwin Lawton, the American Independent Party candidate for governor, took on both the Republicans and Democrats Thursday, accusing them of degenerating government to a "rule of bums."

Politicians of both parties, use the welfare system to bribe blocks of votes, Lawton told a service club in Columbus.

At the same time, Lawton said welfare recipients "will greedily vote for the politicians promising the largest handout."

Stocks Post Modest Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices posted a modest gain early this afternoon, showing that investors seem able to ignore negative news developments when they feel like buying. Trading was moderately active.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.53 to 763.21.

Advances he'd more than a 2-to-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market strength came despite news reports that unemployment jumped to 5 1/2 per cent in September and that key monetary indicators contracted significantly in the week ended Wednesday.

Possible mitigating circumstances, however, came from reports that the administration called the unemployment jump misleading because figures of previous months were probably too low.

Oils, airlines, chemicals, metals, electronics, mail, order-rete, and motors were generally higher. Steels and rails were mixed, while aircraft and utilities were off. Rubber issues remained unchanged.

Large blocks included 962,000 shares of British Petroleum, the sixth largest block ever traded-which went across at 9, unchanged; 110,000 of Sony at 16 1/4, up 1d; and 70,000 of SEDCO at 22 1/2, up 1/2.

British Petroleum was most active, up 1/2 to 9 1/2.

Pleads Innocent

To Murder Charge
PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Innocent pleas to charges of first-degree murder and assault with a deadly weapon were entered in Common Pleas Court Thursday by Donald Clary, 38, of Portsmouth.

Clary is accused of fatally shooting his ex-wife, Phillis, of South Shore, Ky., and wounding Homer Riekey, 37, of Portsmouth, Wednesday night outside a Portsmouth bar.

Donald E. Zehr, general manager of COCMP, said his company notified buyers of the 44-cent increase and Borden would not buy at that price. Asked if COCMP's action constituted a boycott, he said it was a "matter of semantics."

When Nelson got home after work Thursday, he found the damage largely repaired and a note on his front door, which said:

"Dear Sir: 'We are sorry we ran over your lawn. We came today and raked it up the best we could. We won't do it anymore.'"

The note bore two signatures, which were not disclosed.

Men Over Age 26 Ruled Too Old For Army Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System has told local draft boards that age 26 marks the border of a sanctuary they may not invade, even in hot pursuit.

At 26, explained draft Director Curt W. Tarr, a man is too old for combat duty and drafting him might only jeopardize his fellow soldiers.

Tarr explained his views in an interview after draft spokesmen conceded new regulations might allow "dozens even hundreds" of men to escape the draft by using procedural delays until their 26th birthday.

The regulations, announced Wednesday, were in an executive order signed by President Nixon last Saturday upon the recommendation of spokesmen said, of Tarr.

"The change is affecting a very insignificant number," said a draft spokesman.

But he added, "we fully expect there will be dozens, even hundreds who do it."

The escape route of delay, however, would not be easy, he warned.

"Few will pay the price," he said, for it would take a heavy toll in skill, money, and years of uncertainty.

Those who do, however, must be replaced by other men in meeting the Pentagon's draft calls.

"Instead of these men, the system would take a couple of hundred younger, better qualified men," said the official spokesman.

Tarr acknowledged this involved a question of fairness.

"You have to balance the safety factor for equity against the safety factor for the people who have to work with them once they get into the service," said Tarr.

He said Congress, in Selective Service legislation, had picked 19 to 26 as the desirable age limit for military induction, with the exception of doctors, whose training takes longer.

"We decided," Tarr continued, "that if 26 is a reasonable limit, then let's not go all out and get the man after he's past 26 ... you have to think about the combat situation and who will be best qualified. In practical terms, it's the only fair thing."

Men who drafted age 26 without being drafted have years been moved far down the priority list, to be drafted only in dire emergencies or certain special circumstances; the new policy does not change that.

But before last Saturday, regulations allowed boards to draft men after 26 if they had passed that border-line while involved in administrative process delays within the Selective Service System.

Alternatively quoting from the Bible and newspaper clippings, he blamed Nixon and members of Congress for discouraging Ky's visit.

Local Man Fined $250 For OMVI

Randall Lee Arledge, 24, Circleville, was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to three days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants before Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb.

The charges were filed by Circleville Police.

Raymond Walisa, 23, 335 E. Ohio St., was fined $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Marilyn J. Gossard, 46, Derby, was fined $50 and costs for driving when she had no license.

George Leroy Adams, 29, Williamsport, was fined $50 and costs for speeding 100 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Ralph Anderson, 38, Route 4, was fined $15 and costs with the fine suspended for failure to stop at a stop sign.

Sorry About Wheelies, Sir

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jack Nelson of suburban Olivette found his lawn churned up by automobile tires when he returned from a recent trip.

When Nelson got home after work Thursday, he found the damage largely repaired and a note on his front door, which said:

"Dear Sir: 'We are sorry we ran over your lawn. We came today and raked it up the best we could. We won't do it anymore.'"

The note bore two signatures, which were not disclosed.

held on the Capitol steps tonight to honor Americans killed in the Southeast Asia war.

The march itself begins at noon Saturday, from the east end of the Mall along Pennsylvania Avenue to the Washington Monument for a rally.

A pre-march dinner in suburban Maryland Thursday night, McIntire told a cheering crowd of 350 persons, "There'll be a hot time in the old town Saturday. We ought to have a million people in this city on Saturday."

LOOKING AT TV

By DON

How many people know who the father of television was? His name was Philo T. Farnsworth, one of the greatest yet least publicized scientists of our generation.

Farnsworth was a teen age youth when, in 1922, he conceived a scientific idea for an all-electronic television system.

This Utah-born farm boy proposed to telecast pictures through the use of electronics, with no moving parts.

Trade Hypocrisy

Trade protectionist sentiment is building in the United States as a result of growing import invasion of a number of important domestic markets. Congress is considering the first protectionist legislation in many years, and there is a good chance of its passage.

What is strange is that the howls of protest now being heard are concentrated exclusively on the United States.

Protectionists in the U. S. are reacting to many years of restrictive trade practices by much of the world against American goods. A comparison of quotas, tariffs and other restrictive devices levied against foods, vehicles, textiles or other major trade commodities shows the U. S. with a much more lenient trade policy toward imports than other industrial nations.

Japan and members of the Common Market have strong protectionist barriers against U. S. products. Yet, Pierre-Paul Schweiter, director of the International Monetary Fund, has called proposed trade restrictions in the U. S. "regressive," but is mum about worse practices elsewhere.

A little less hypocrisy is needed to head off a trade embargo on a scale not seen since the 1930s. It is not American manufacturers — some of them with their backs to the wall — who are responsible for the existing imbalance.

Politest Of Mammals

Are dolphins smarter than people? No one, it appears is ready to make that claim.

But scientists say this sea-going mammal is the only living creature with a brain larger, more complex, and with more active elements than a human being of corresponding size.

Reserachers have learned the dolphin clicks with laughter, whistles with distress, and pipes lengthy conversations with his fellow dolphin — sometimes two or three of them at a time.

The dolphin is infinitely patient under the indignities to which he is subjected in the interests of research. He makes a playful and affectionate pet, easily domesticated and trained.

Most impressive of all, perhaps, is one researcher's description of the manner in which dolphin converse with one another — a manner which can only be described as civilized.

"The dolphin," he says, "will wait politely for the other to finish before speaking."

Dolphin may not be smarter than people, but as a species they're apparently more polite.

Why Not?

The New York Daily News had a spread of pictures the other day showing various Wall Street types who were devoting a sunny lunch hour to picking up litter in Battery Park.

Done up in Brooks Brothers attire or fashionable miniskirts, as their sex dictated, the Wall Streeters seemed to be having a ball with their rakes and paper-stabbers and litter bags.

The project was sponsored by the city's Parks, Recreational and Cultural Affairs Administration.

Litter per capita probably doesn't vary much from city to city. Maybe it wouldn't be a bad idea for one of the various levels of officialdom in other municipalities to sponsor an Earth Day or Beautification Day. People who pick up a little trash are less inclined to throw it out the car window than those who don't.

Besides, such an event would shorten the list of things big cities have that other cities don't.

IN THE middle of the night, a young bachelor was awakened by the jangling of the telephone. "It's me—your ma," said the voice on the wire. "Happy birthday!" "Thanks," answered the 23-year-old son. "But why wake me at three in the morning?" "Because," cooed mama, "you did the same to me twenty-three years ago."

A good old story revived by Bill Feather: Casey and Riley finally agreed to settle a long-simmering feud by fighting it out until one combatant pleaded quits. Casey thereupon proceeded to wallop the daylight out of Riley, who finally realized that his cause was hopeless and gasped, "Quits!" Did this end Casey's onslaught? It did not. He continued throwing punches at poor Riley until one onlooker protested, "Lay off him, Casey. Can't you hear him crying that he's had enough?" "I can," admitted Casey grimly, "but he's such a liar, I can't believe him."

OVERHEARD: On a construction job: "My pal Frank drinks anything. Right now he's under the influence of Jaeger." At the City Club: "I once tried to give up smoking, drinking, and women. It was the longest twenty minutes I ever spent." Husband asking for breakfast at 11:00 a.m.: "The one way I can think of from going bankrupt is to stay home in bed from now on."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is "St. Anthony's Fire" really the name of a disease? I just heard this for the first time.

Mr. W.E., Connecticut Dear Mr. E.: Where the name St. Anthony's Fire originated has never been clear to me. I do know the name has been used to describe a severe inflammation and infection of the skin caused by the step-tococcus germ.

The condition is also known as erysipelas. Before the era of the antibiotics, erysipelas occurred frequently following a laceration of the skin that became infected.

Now the condition is relatively rare because wounds are kept clean, and antibiotics are used to prevent wound infections.

One of the characteristics of erysipelas is the way it spreads, sending out little off-shoots of flame-like tongues. Perhaps this is where the name St. Anthony's Fire originates.

How many hormone glands are there in the body?

Miss K. N., New York Dear Miss N.: The pineal and the pituitary glands are hormone glands that lie deep in the brain.

The thyroid is a large hormone gland that lies low in the front of the neck. Within it are glands.

The thymus is a hormone gland which lies in the chest between the heart and the lungs. This is a rather large gland. It tends to shrink and disappear at the time of adolescence.

The adrenals are hormone glands which lie close to the kidney.

The pancreas is another gland that lies in the abdomen behind the stomach.

In the female, the ovaries, and in the male, the testicles, are of course important hormone glands.

This entire complex of hormone glands is known as the endocrine hormone system. They secrete their hormones directly into the blood stream.

No more remarkable network exists in any man-made apparatus than this baffling system. Messages are sent from one organ in the body to another telling the hormone glands of their needs under usual, unusual and exceptional conditions in health and disease.

Take man's odyssey to the moon and make it a daily occurrence and it will be, compared to the hormone system, a feat of child-like simplicity. So remarkable are the intricacies of the hormone

The gag, on the West Bank of the River Jordan, has been that King Hussein of Jordan is "the Mayor of Amman" — meaning, of course, that he has not been able to control anything in his kingdom outside of his capital city. As this column is being written, Hussein has given the lie to his detractors. But, as a moderate in the Arab world, Hussein lives by chance — and the Palestine guerrillas, who know no stopping place short of the destruction of what they call Zionism, will certainly not agree to any permanent peace inside Jordan until Hussein is once again reduced to being the "Mayor" of his capital. The guerrillas need their base on Jordanian soil to keep their anti-Israeli war going.

A Western commentator, seeking light on the background of the Palestinian Arab terrorist movements, is inevitably put off by the different meanings which the word "democratic" has as it is used by the average American citizen and by the average Arab Marxist revolutionist. To an American, democracy means "one man, one vote." But to Gessan Kanfani, a representative of the Palestinian Popular Liberation Front, "democracy" can't begin to exist until "liberal" society — meaning a society of various social classes — has been replaced by revolutionary socialism.

Speaking of Arab hopes for a "democratic solution" in Palestine, Gessan Kanfani says, "It is inconceivable that this should be liberal democracy, rather it must be . . . democracy of the needy and working classes. Otherwise it would be unable to integrate itself into the ideological and class structure which is upheld by the popular Marxist-Leninist front."

The number of Arab Palestinian "liberation" groups, all with similar names, is as bewildering as is their use of the word "democratic." But, making allowance for differences in emphasis, they all look forward to a "free" Palestine in which an Arab majority will prescribe the rules under which individual Israelis will be permitted to exist.

Not so long ago representatives of six of the "liberation" organizations were invited by the editorial board of the Lebanese "El Anwar" to discuss the idea of creating a "Democratic Palestinian State." The results of the symposium show how footless it is for the Nixon Administration to hope for an "era of negotiation" insofar as the guerrillas themselves are concerned. For example, the representative of the Palestinian Democratic Front says the creation of "a Palestinian State . . . can only be carried out after the elimination of the entity presently existing on Palestinian soil . . . Co-existence with this entity is impossible . . . no compromise can be reached."

The Palestine Liberation Movement (Fatah), as represented by Farid El Khatib, wishes to tell the world that the purpose of the Palestinians and the Arabs is not to throw the Jews into the sea. "In spite of his moderate tone, however, Farid El Khatib was basically uncompromising. Fatah's aim was defined as the "dissolution" of the "Zionist State."

The representative of the Arab Liberation Front said that the "idea of a Palestinian State means the elimination of the Zionist entity . . . Liberation itself is bound up with the popular liberation war, which alone has the power to offset the existing technological, economic and military superiority in the enemy camp." According to the Arab Liberation Front spokesman, the slogan of the "Democratic Palestinian State" was brought up as a tactical gambit "to pacify progressive public opinion."

Shafiq Alhout of the Palestine Liberation Front spoke of rectifying a "wrong done in the historic process," meaning that "it is useless to talk of the slogan of a Democratic Palestinian State." "In this matter," he said, "we cannot negotiate." Zahir Hassan, the representative of the movement known as Saigua, added that the slogan of the "Democratic" state was being "raised at the wrong time." Any solution satisfactory to the Palestinian Arab revolutionists must come "after victory."

Saigua's representative tried to be mollifying to the Israelis. "I think," he said, "that many will choose to live outside Palestine because Palestine will not be able to absorb all the Palestinians and the Jews living in it."

The net of the whole discussion is that the "liberationists" don't want to "throw the Israelis into the sea." They merely want the post-World War II Jewish immigrants to go back to West Germany, Poland or Soviet Russia. To Golda Meir and Moshe Dayan this means that the Israeli government is being asked to liquidate itself. It is not a likely prospect.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Perhaps it is their nature or the flexibility of their businesses or simply the desire for profit, but the Japanese, it appears, are taking the electric car a bit more seriously than American manufacturers.

True, electric cars are being manufactured in small quantities in the United States, and many big name corporations have prototypes of these vehicles of the future. But the market, it appears, exists now rather than tomorrow.

A survey by Opinion Research Corp. indicates that 50 million Americans would consider buying a short-range, limited-speed electric car if one were on the market at less than $2,000.

This vehicle would be designed to go 40 miles an hour and to travel about 150 miles before having its batteries charged in a home charging unit, specifications that many engineers feel can be met through intensive effort.

Meanwhile, two big Japanese battery manufacturers have begun setting up the machinery for making electric cars operable and efficient in that country by developing a nationwide battery rental system.

The incentive to Japanese manufacturers is a decision by the government to replace many delivery cars, public service vehicles and midget vans and other short distance vehicles now operating in major cities within the next three to five years.

The battery stations are also little essentials in the eyes of the Japanese, because the present designs of electric vehicles restrict them to less than 100 miles without recharging.

Without such stations, therefore, travel by electricity would be seriously limited, to say nothing of the possibility of cars being stranded all over the highways.

The Japanese are embarking on their electrification program despite drawbacks to using lead batteries that have caused American manufacturers to proceed cautiously. But noise and pollution, the Japanese feel, must be dealt with now.

To make the lead battery more efficient, both companies are working on the development of high speed chargers, and one of them already has completed an experimental device that reduces recharging time from 8 to 5 hours.

A prevalent American attitude is that the electric car is impractical with existing batteries, and that for the electric car to be really worthwhile, a revolutionary fuel cell must be developed.

The Japanese seemingly have decided to go with what they have rather than to wait for perfection. And American people, judging from the OPR survey, may be in a somewhat similar mood.

The results of the symposium show how foolproof it is for the Nixon Administration to hope for an "era of negotiation" insofar as the guerrillas themselves are concerned. For example, the representative of the Palestinian Democratic Front says the creation of a "Democratic Palestinian State . . . can only be carried out after the elimination of the entity presently existing on Palestinian soil . . . Co-existence with this entity is impossible . . . no compromise can be reached."

The Palestine Liberation Movement (Fatah), as represented by Farid El Khatib, was less lurid. He said, "Fatah wishes to tell the world that the purpose of the Palestinians and the Arabs is not to throw the Jews into the sea." In spite of his moderate tone, however, Farid El Khatib was basically uncompromising. Fatah's aim was defined as the "dissolution" of the "Zionist State."

The representative of the Arab Liberation Front said that the "idea of a Palestinian State means the elimination of the Zionist entity . . . Liberation itself is bound up with the popular liberation war, which alone has the power to offset the existing technological, economic and military superiority in the enemy camp." According to the Arab Liberation Front spokesman, the slogan of the "Democratic Palestinian State" was brought up as a tactical gambit "to pacify progressive public opinion."

Shafiq Alhout of the Palestine Liberation Front spoke of rectifying a "wrong done in the historic process," meaning that "it is useless to talk of the slogan of a Democratic Palestinian State." "In this matter," he said, "we cannot negotiate." Zahir Hassin, the representative of the movement known as Saika, added that the slogan of the "Democratic" state was being "raised at the wrong time." Any solution satisfactory to the Palestinian Arab revolutionists must come "after victory."

Saika's representative tried to be mollifying to the Israelis. "I think," he said, "that many will choose to live outside Palestine because Palestine will not be able to absorb all the Palestinians and the Jews living in it."

The net of the whole discussion is that the "liberationists" don't want to "throw the Israelis into the sea." They merely want the post-World War II Jewish immigrants to go back to West Germany, Poland or Soviet Russia. To Golda Meir and Moshe Dayan this means that the Israeli government is being asked to liquidate itself. It is not a likely prospect.

OK Funds For Guards At Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite objections from two members, the state Emergency Board has authorized $60,000 in funds to post guards outside the Ohio Supreme Court offices.

"Who's been watching Marshal Dillon?" asked State Sen. Robert Shaw, R-16 Columbus, in questioning the need for guards. "What are they afraid of?"

The seven-judge court, in putting highway patrolmen on the top two floors of the statehouse annex, noted there was a bomb threat last spring and said they also were alarmed over courtroom violence elsewhere in the nation.

Shaw said the Supreme Court does not have prisoners in their courtrooms as in trial courts. "I would like to know who is getting so nervous over there," he said.

Over the objections of Shaw and Phillip S. Schneider, representing Auditor Roger Cloud, the board granted the $60,000 request for the remainder of the biennium, ending next June 30.

The court said the money would be used to pay the off-

Trumbull County Township Ripped By State Auditors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Examiners from the office of Auditor Roger Cloud today charged officials of Liberty Twp. in Trumbull County with shoddy bookkeeping and business practices.

The auditor's office, in a 28-page report, said the township trustees and clerk often paid the same bill twice, failed to follow accepted bookkeeping procedures and often acted contrary to state law.

The largest finding was a $41,765 fee the township paid to an attorney to represent the township in a separation proceeding.

Inland Lays Off 4,350 Workers

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The layoff of 4,350 workers at the Inland Manufacturing Division plant here has brought to 400,000 the number of General Motors Corp. employees idled by the United Auto Workers union strike.

The plant makes rubber products—hoses, weather stripping and instrument panel pads—primarily for GM consumption. Some 750 men remain on the job.

duty patrolmen and finance additional administrative expenses. No breakdown on the costs was given.

Township trustees, the audit said, are without statutory authority to hire legal counsel.

At the time, a petition was being passed to set up a new Liberty Twp. exclusive of the city of Girard.

Subpoena 6 On Loans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The prosecutors office has subpoenaed six persons to appear later this month before the Franklin County grand jury taking over the investigation of state loans. Called were three officers of Crofters, Inc., Harry Groban, Sidney Griffith and Gerald Donahue; State Treasurer John Herbert, former assistant treasurer Robert Gardner, and State Sen. Robin Turner of Marion, the GOP candidate for treasurer.

Herbert and Gardner are to testify Oct. 13, Turner and Groban Oct. 15, and Griffith and Donahue Oct. 16.

All but Gardner were subpoenaed for the special grand jury which was investigating the loan scandal before it was declared defunct as of Sept. 7.

Gardner resigned after State Auditor Roger Cloud revealed state loans had exceeded the legal limit.

The audit covered the period between Jan. 1, 1968, and April 15, 1970.

The audit said the township often paid federal excise taxes on products exempted from such taxes. Bills were often overpaid, the audit said.

"It's just a lot of trivial things," a Cloud aide said. The Showers were confined to parts of Florida and to scattered areas in the upper Mississippi and the Ohio valleys.

Clear skies abounded elsewhere except for early-morning fog in sections of New England.

Temperatures in the 40s and 50s were common over most Northern states during the night, with 60s and 70s general across the South into the Southwest.

audit report is to be turned over to the Trumbull County prosecutor's office and to county commissioners.

Among the many findings against the township:

— No total balance was maintained in the control account and no attempt was made to identify errors of previous months.

— Adjustments were made in the books to rectify errors.

— A township trustee was paid $101 for a round trip plane ticket to Cincinnati when the actual fare was $56.

— Trustees often charged their lunches to the township although they were not out of the county.

— The township took money from one fire apparatus levy fund and transferred it to another although state law specifies that levy accounts must be maintained separately.

Tricia Passmore resides with her parents and one brother, Mark, at 1193 Lone Pine Road. She hails from Wooddale High, Memphis, Tenn.

At her previous school Tricia was captain of girls' gymnastics, student council representative, president of senior high Prep Club and candidate for the Cardinal Queen Contest.

TRICIA PASSMORE

Tricia was also assistant editor of her school newspaper, the Cardinal Quill. In telling about the newspaper, she said that the students had a chance to constructively criticize the school in the editorial column.

Tricia enjoys reading poetry and singing. She has appeared in several musicals and she does a little acting on the side. She is presently a member of the Red and Black staff.

Being outspoken in her beliefs, we feel that Tricia will prove to be a valuable asset to the production of the Red and Black.

Tiger Stripes And Strategy

By CHRIS LONG and BILL MCGOWAN

Circleville over Wilmington: The Tigers of Circleville will be out to revenge their shelacking by Wilmington last year which cost them a share of the SCOL crown.

The rough ground game of the Hurricanes may be a surprise to the Tigers, but Circleville's defensive stalwarts Mark Davey, Bill Fowler, Doyle Kiser and Jim Mogan will see that it isn't. The sensational passing combinations of Bowers-to-Webb will keep the Hurricane defenders talking to themselves all night and will lead the 10th ranked Tiger Cats to a loop win.

Westfall over Logan Elm: This could be anybody's ball game, but Westfall's power defense will hold the Logan Elm backs to small yardage. A moderate offensive effort by the trampling Mustangs should give them a win over the Braves of Logan Elm.

Franklin Heights over Teays Valley: Teays Valley will go into this game a little too sure of themselves. With the power running of Champ Henson and Bob Tucker they may have a chance. The Falcons of Franklin Heights are flying high this week after a 20-12 victory over Washington C. H. These birds are not ready to land and an upset is bound to be the outcome.

Audio-Visual Begins Instructional Sessions

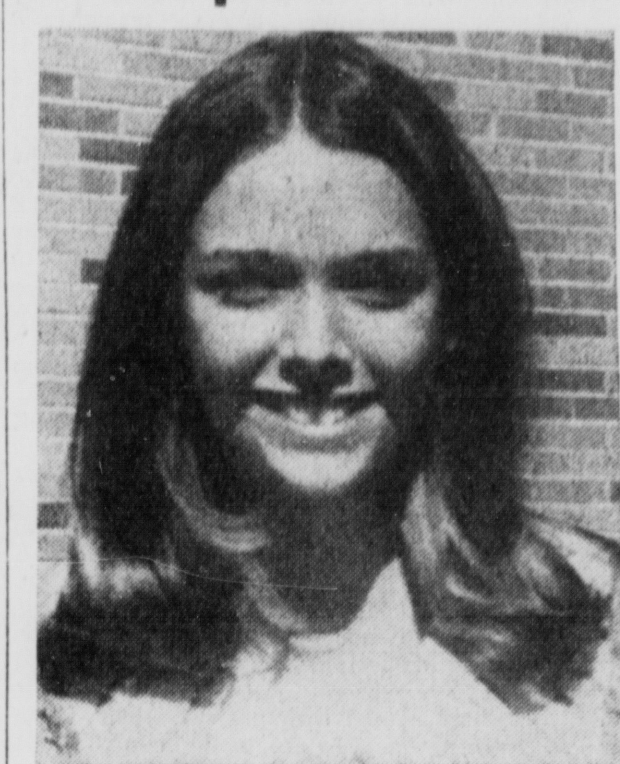

By PATTI CRAIG

First of these series was held with teachers from South Court and Corwin Street schools September 23. The teachers from Atwater and Nicholas Street schools attended the second meeting on September 24.

Also being discussed is the goal in which Fred Goeglein, A.V. Director, has set for the department. This goal is to expand the department and to make all instructional materials in the elementary school system available.

The third and last meeting will be held on October 7. The schools that will be attending this meeting are Mound and High Street.

VANESSA HATFIELD
Junior Candidate

By BRENDA O'DELL

Recent activities in selecting the 1970 Miss Circleville senior and junior candidates for the upcoming Pumpkin Show has lead to an increased air of excitement and an extra bit of happiness for two local students.

Huge brown eyes, a soft creamy complexion, shiny tresses of cocoa, and a contagious smile are a few of the qualities which helped Kathy Dunkel become the senior candidate for Pumpkin Show.

Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunkel, Route 3, enjoys participating in activities in which she may help or encourage others. She expresses herself in GAA, SOS, Student Council, MYF, Grange and Rainbow.

After graduation her plans are to enter Ohio State.

Junior candidate for this year's show is Vanessa Hatfield. "Nessa" as she is called by most, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hatfield, 342 E. Mound St.

With her contrasting dark eyes, fair complexion, and honey blonde locks the enthusiastic belle can be spotted easily while participating in her many activities. Among these she lists her favorites as cheerleading, Student Council, Jr. Class officer, Triple Trio,

Two Attend Church Conference

By BILL MCGOWAN and CHRIS LONG

Doug Good who resides on 260 Sunset Drive with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marion S. Good, and Jerry Easter, 439 E. Franklin St. attended a Luther League workshop at Capitol University this last summer.

When asked if they had any new outlooks on life after attending they replied "Yes, we now realize how lucky we are to live in a community like ours compared to other poor underprivileged people all over the world."

Doug and Jerry also went to New York City for a national convention of Luther League. There were 15,000 representatives from all over the country and the meetings were held in Madison Square Garden.

While there Doug and Jerry had two moments they'll never forget. They saw the "Guess Who" in Grand Central Park and Joe Namath in his restaurant.

Doug and Jerry now care more about the problems of pollution and racial strife after attending this convention.

Cross Country Begins Season

By GARY SPANGLER

Circleville cross-country team began their season Sept. 17 with a victory over Westfall on the foreign course.

Cross-country isn't as exciting as a football or basketball game, but the athletes work just as hard.

Cross-country starts the last track meet and through the summer until school starts. Ask a runner why he runs and he can't answer you. Either he says "I like to run" or "I just don't know!"

If more people would attend the meets, the Harriers would work harder and students would discover the sport is more interesting than they thought.

Meets will be held beginning 4:30 p.m. following this schedule:
Oct. 6 - Groveport, away
Oct. 8 - W.C.H., away
Oct. 13 - Fairfield Union, hom
Oct. 15 - Teays Valley, away
Oct. 27 - Lancaster, away

CHS Tiger Team Has Great Spirit

By JEFF GRIFFITH

If any student in CHS wondered what kind of spirit his football team had, he should wonder no more. The question "Why do you think you'll beat Wilmington?" was asked to a few of the players and their answers should subdue any doubt in anyone's mind.

Tom Bowers - "We're off to a good start. If we cut down on mistakes and penalties, we can beat them."

Mike Webb - "We out-class every team in the league."

Doyle Kiser - "It's something that must be done."

Jim Mogan - "We out-work them."

Gary Owens - "The team's got it together."

Dick Radcliff - "Wilmington lost a lot of players last year; I think we're in better shape than they are."

Chris Long - "We've got more hustle and desire."

Dave Truex - "We've got a better team."

Mark Davey - "We've got one of the best defenses in the league. Our offense has improved, plus, we've got the personnel to get the job done."

Craig Allison - "Wilmington lost a lot of guys by graduation. We've got the toughest defense in the league, and our offense will get the job done."

Coach Williams - "We are a better team."

The ancient Khmer capital of Angkor, sacked by Vietnamese invaders in the 15th century, once more is threatened by hostile armies. The ancient city was discovered in 1860 when French naturalist Henry Mouhot broke through the tangled growth to find an awe-inspiring network of massive walls and gates, roads, causeways, moats and canals and statue-lined terraces dominated by the domed temples of a vanished empire.

By BETH JONES and LISSA RIEHL

CHS Offers Southern Hospitality

By JEANNE CUPP

Tricia Passmore resides with her parents and one brother, Mark, at 1193 Lone Pine Road. She hails from Wooddale High, Memphis, Tenn.

At her previous school Tricia was captain of girls' gymnastics, student council representative, president of senior high Prep Club and candidate for the Cardinal Queen Contest.

TRICIA PASSMORE

Tricia was also assistant editor of her school newspaper, the Cardinal Quill. In telling about the newspaper, she said that the students had a chance to constructively criticize the school in the editorial column.

Tricia enjoys reading poetry and singing. She has appeared in several musicals and she does a little acting on the side. She is presently a member of the Red and Black staff.

Being outspoken in her beliefs, we feel that Tricia will prove to be a valuable asset to the production of the Red and Black.

Tiger Stripes And Strategy

By CHRIS LONG and BILL MCGOWAN

Circleville over Wilmington: The Tigers of Circleville will be out to revenge their shelacking by Wilmington last year which cost them a share of the SCOL crown.

The rough ground game of the Hurricanes may be a surprise to the Tigers, but Circleville's defensive stalwarts Mark Davey, Bill Fowler, Doyle Kiser and Jim Mogan will see that it isn't. The sensational passing combinations of Bowers-to-Webb will keep the Hurricane defenders talking to themselves all night and will lead the 10th ranked Tiger Cats to a loop win.

Westfall over Logan Elm: This could be anybody's ball game, but Westfall's power defense will hold the Logan Elm backs to small yardage. A moderate offensive effort by the trampling Mustangs should give them a win over the Braves of Logan Elm.

Franklin Heights over Teays Valley: Teays Valley will go into this game a little too sure of themselves. With the power running of Champ Henson and Bob Tucker they may have a chance. The Falcons of Franklin Heights are flying high this week after a 20-12 victory over Washington C. H. These birds are not ready to land and an upset is bound to be the outcome.

Audio-Visual Begins Instructional Sessions

By PATTI CRAIG

CHS Audio-Visual Department has been having a series of meetings with the elementary schools in this area.

First of these series was held with teachers from South Court and Corwin Street schools September 23. The teachers from Atwater and Nicholas Street schools attended the second meeting on September 24.

The purpose of these meetings is to discuss with the teachers what instructional materials are available to them and the system that is being used to obtain these materials. Also being discussed is the goal in which Fred Goeglein, A.V. Director, has set for the department. This goal is to expand the department and to make all instructional materials in the elementary school system available.

The third and last meeting will be held on October 7. The schools that will be attending this meeting are Mound and High Street.

Pumpkin Beauties Named

VANESSA HATFIELD
Junior Candidate

By BRENDA O'DELL

Recent activities in selecting the 1970 Miss Circleville senior and junior candidates for the upcoming Pumpkin Show has led to an increased air of excitement and an extra bit of happiness for two local students.

Huge brown eyes, a soft creamy complexion, shiny tresses of cocoa, and a contagious smile are a few of the qualities which helped Kathy Dunkel become the senior candidate for Pumpkin Show.

Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunkel, Route 3, enjoys participating in activities in which she may help or encourage others. She expresses herself in GAA, SOS, Student Council, MYF, Grange and Rainbow.

After graduation her plans are to enter Ohio State.

Junior candidate for this year's show is Vanessa Hatfield. "Nessa" as she is called by most, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hatfield, 342 E. Mound St.

With her contrasting dark eyes, fair complexion, and honey blonde locks the enthusiastic belle can be spotted easily while participating in her many activities. Among these she lists her favorites as cheerleading, Student Council, Jr. Class officer, Triple Trio,

Folk Group and GAA.

After graduation she plans to attend Miami University and study toward becoming a foreign interpreter.

Two Attend Church Conference

By BILL MCGOWAN and CHRIS LONG

Doug Good who resides on 260 Sunset Drive with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marion S. Good, and Jerry Easter, 439 E. Franklin St. attended a Luther League workshop at Capitol University this last summer.

When asked if they had any new outlooks on life after attending they replied "Yes, we now realize how lucky we are to live in a community like ours compared to other poor underprivileged people all over the world."

Doug and Jerry also went to New York City for a national convention of Luther League. There were 15,000 representatives from all over the country and the meetings were held in Madison Square Garden.

While there Doug and Jerry had two moments they'll never forget. They saw the "Guess Who" in Grand Central Park and Joe Namath in his restaurant.

Doug and Jerry now care more about the problems of pollution and racial strife after attending this convention.

Cross Country Begins Season

By GARY SPANGLER

Circleville cross-country team began their season Sept. 17 with a victory over Westfall on the foreign course.

Cross-country isn't as exciting as a football or basketball game, but the athletes work just as hard.

Cross-country starts the last track meet and through the summer until school starts. Ask a runner why he runs and he can't answer you. Either he says "I like to run" or "I just don't know!"

If more people would attend the meets, the Harriers would discover the sport is more interesting than they thought.

Meets will be held beginning 4:30 p.m. following this schedule:

Oct. 6 — Groveport, away
Oct. 8 — W.C.H., away
Oct. 13 — Fairfield Union, home
Oct. 15 — Teays Valley, away
Oct. 27 — Lancaster, away

CHS Tiger Team Has Great Spirit

By JEFF GRIFFITH

If any student in CHS wondered what kind of spirit his football team had, he should wonder no more. The question "Why do you think you'll beat Wilmington?" was asked to a few of the players and their answers should subdue any doubt in anyone's mind.

Tom Bowers — "We're off to a good start. If we cut down on mistakes and penalties, we can beat them."

Mike Webb — "We out-clash every team in the league."

Doyle Kiser — "It's something that must be done."

Jim Mogan — "We out-work them."

Gary Owens — "The team's got it together."

Dick Radcliff — "Wilmington lost a lot of players last year; I think we're in better shape than they are."

Chris Long — "We've got more hustle and desire."

Dave Truex — "We've got a better team."

Mark Davey — "We've got one of the best defenses in the league. Our offense has improved, plus, we've got the personnel to get the job done."

Craig Allison — "Wilmington lost a lot of guys by graduation. We've got the toughest defense in the league, and our offense will get the job done."

Coach Williams — "We are a better team."

The ancient Khmer capital of Angkor, sacked by Vietnamese invaders in the 15th century, once more is threatened by hostile armies. The ancient city was discovered in 1860 when French naturalist Henry Mouhot broke through the tangled growth to find an awe-inspiring network of massive walls and gates, roads, causeways, moats and canals and stately terraces dominated by the domed temples of a vanished empire.

The Adult Reading World

Through history, theater, the step-child of the church, has been a dynamic force in society. Living theater today can be found in three areas: commercial, educational and community theater. Brevity being a necessity, I wish to concentrate on community theater in general and the Roundtown players in particular.

Acting and back stage efforts require a great deal of knowledge and discipline. The Pickaway County Library became my second home months before tryouts of Roundtown Players production of "Blithe Spirit." Plowing through the 812 section of the library, I found a volume containing an anthology of plays. "A Treasury of the Theater" edited by John Gassner. Why? To read the script of course and to familiarize myself with the characters, plot, set and special effects. At that time, I also picked up a book by John Dolman Jr., "The Art of Acting." It contains an excellent, fairly indepth study of not only the why's but also the how's of creating a believable role.

Wondering how professional actors approach their roles, I became engrossed in "Actors Talk About Acting" by Lewis Funke and John E. Booth. Their personal opinions of the Method Schools, their techniques for memorization and their inner drives are to be found in this book which is a written text of taped interviews.

Two weeks before tryouts, I heard via the grapevine that the director hoped to use British accents. Once again The Pickaway County Library came through with some excellent examples on L-P recordings. I used the original soundtrack from "My Fair Lady" with Rex Harrison and Julie Andrews. I also listened to several Ashley Montague anthropology recordings. Since the purpose of using the records was to find and develop an accent, Mr. Montague's most interesting lectures were elusive to me. In the future, I plan to borrow the anthropology series again and listen for the sake of learning the subject and not the accent.

Voice control and diction are frequently a problem to amateur actors. Solutions to these problems can be found with intensive study of "Speech" by Dorothy Mulgrave.

Creating costumes and character make-up is an art which should not be approached haphazardly. Two books that I recommend for the techniques in this area are "Designing and Making Stage Costumes" by Motley and "Stage Makeup" by Richard Corson. Both of these read like text books and would be of interest only to a genuine student of the theater either as a vocation or an avocation.

Imagination and availability of resource material are basic necessities for understanding theater on both sides of the curtain.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Adult Reading World

Through history, theater, the step-child of the church, has been a dynamic force in society. Living theater today can be found in three areas: commercial, educational and community theater. Brevity being a necessity, I wish to concentrate on community theater in general and the Roundtown players in particular. Acting and back stage efforts require a great deal of knowledge and discipline. The Pickaway County Library became my second home months before tryouts of Roundtown Players production of "Blithe Spirit." Plowing through the 812 section of the library, I found a volume containing an anthology of plays. "A Treasury of the Theater" edited by John Gassner. Why? To read the script of course and to familiarize myself with the characters, plot, set and special effects. At that time, I also picked up a book by John Dolman Jr., "The Art of Acting." It contains an excellent, fairly indepth study of not only the why's but also the how's of creating a believable role.

Wondering how professional actors approach their roles, I became engrossed in "Actors Talk About Acting" by Lewis Funke and John E. Booth. Their personal opinions of the Method Schools, their techniques for memorization and their inner drives are to be found in this book which is a written text of taped interviews. Two weeks before tryouts, I heard via the grapevine that the director hoped to use British accents. Once again the Pickaway County Library came through with some excellent examples on L-P recordings. I used the original soundtrack from "My Fair Lady" with Rex Harrison and Julie Andrews. I also listened to several Ashley Montague anthropology recordings. Since the purpose of using the records was to find and develop an accent, Mr. Montague's most interesting lectures were elusive to me. In the future, I plan to borrow the anthropology series again and listen for the sake of learning the subject and not the accent.

Voice control and diction are frequently a problem to amateur actors. Solutions to these problems can be found with intensive study of "Speech" by Dorothy Mulgrave. Creating costumes and character make-up is an art which should not be approached haphazardly. Two books that I recommend for the techniques in this area are "Designing and Making Stage Costumes" by Motley and "Stage Makeup" by Richard Corson. Both of these read like text books and would be of interest only to a genuine student of the theater either as a vocation or an avocation.

Imagination and availability of resource material are basic necessities for understanding theater on both sides of the curtain.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Campus Prober To Shun Special Session

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There is repeated indication the Joint Committee on Campus Disorders will not recommend a special session of the legislature to enact new laws.

In the first place, most of the legislators don't want it. They've got campaigns back home. Republicans, fearing a Democratic gubernatorial victory, are extremely leery of a special session.

Secondly, GOP leaders are now referring to the report that has been drafted and will probably be released Monday as an "interim report," meaning it can be amended within the next few months if necessary.

The committee has been doing its drafting behind closed doors. This gave it plenty of time to drag its feet and to pressure for the special session. Statehouse insiders said Gov. James A. Rhodes wanted a special session—not to pass a campus disorder bill but to clean up some of his own pet projects.

Rhodes leaves office in January. He had let it be known that if the session was called he had "three or four" other items he wanted legislators to take up.

At this stage of the game, Republican leaders in the General Assembly want to remain on friendly terms with the governor but obviously do not want to stick their necks out too far.

Pollution will remain a top issue when the 109th General Assembly convenes next January.

Denison Bid For Position Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of David S. Denison Jr. of Warren, Ohio, as a member of the Federal Trade Commission, was opposed Thursday during a Senate Commerce Committee hearing.

Clarissa Cain, president of the Consumer Education and Protective Association, accused the Nixon administration of trying to ram through the nomination of a "mediocre finance company lawyer."

Denison, a 52-year-old, former one-term Republican congressman, was nominated to the FTC last week.

Howard Frazier, president of the Consumer Federation of America, echoed Mrs. Cain's opposition but did not criticize Denison personally.

Frazier told newsmen his group's main complaint was that it submitted eight names to the administration as possible nominees to replace outspoken Philip Elman whose term expired, but the administration ignored them.

Denison breezed through his appearance before the committee Thursday, receiving praise from both Democrats and Republicans.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., questioned Denison about his financial holdings and law clients.

Denison assured the committee he is putting all his investments in a blind trust.

It came into its own during the last session and its drawing power as a political attraction seems to be growing.

Rep. Tony Hall, D-87 Dayton, has said that if he is re-elected he will propose a bill to put all present environmental activities under one agency.

Hall's proposal would also establish three new agencies—environmental protection, pollution control and environmental quality.

The Ohio Water Development Authority, the Ohio Air Quality Authority and other environmental groups now in existence would be combined under one roof.

A Rio Grande College class in political parties and pressure groups did a Gallup-type poll of residents in Racoon Twp. and discovered 65 per cent are registered to vote.

Forty-five per cent of those polled said they favored incumbent 10th Congressional District Rep. Clarence E. Miller. His opponent, Doug Arnett, drew 23 per cent while 32 per cent said they were undecided.

A local option election on the sale of alcoholic vendors got mixed by 50 per cent of those polled. Twenty-nine per cent voted wet while 29 per cent said they were undecided.

Rep. Robert Taft Jr. is worried about the effect the state loan scandal will have on his candidacy for the U.S. Senate. Taft told the New Philadelphia-Dover Times Reporter he is afraid it may hurt the GOP turnout at the polls.

"Some Republican voters," said Taft, "may be so discouraged that although they would not vote for Democrats they just might not go to the polls."

Unusual Gate

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lyon at Sterling have a gate at their front yard that is very original. It is made of odd-sized pieces of metal — horseshoes, pliers, a monkeywrench, springs, a length of chain — all welded together and fastened to a square frame made of sections of pipe.

U.A.R.'S NEXT?—A fair bet to wind up as United Arab Republic president succeeding the late Gamal Abdel Nasser is Aly Sabry (above). He is a former vice president and former prime minister of Egypt. He accompanied Nasser on a recent trip to Moscow and has been cultivated by the Soviets.

Campus Prober To Shun Special Session

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There is repeated indication the Joint Committee on Campus Disorders will not recommend a special session of the legislature to enact new laws.

ambulance made the following runs the past two weeks: Sept. 20 took Dorothy Brockman from Mt. Carmel Hospital to the Don Thompson residence; Sept. 22 took Robert Collins to Berger Hospital; Sept. 24 moved Mrs. Addie Squires from Berger Hospital to the residence of Mrs. Ethel Siegel; Sept. 25 took Mrs. Neil Reed to Grant Hospital; Sept. 26 took Robert Rainey to University Hospital; Sept. 27 took Paul Allen and Fred Maynard to Mercy Hospital following a two-car accident; Sept. 29 took Mrs. Mayme Hedges (mother of Chauncey Hedges) to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

This Sunday, Oct. 4, World Wide Communion will be celebrated in First English Lutheran Church with the Sacrament of Holy Communion.

Mr. Guy Leatherwood was in charge of the program for the Sept. 22 meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club. The members and their wives were conducted through the new post office building in Columbus. The tour, led by Mr. Leatherwood, proved quite interesting as he explained the entire operation of the postal service, sorting and the delivering of the mail.

Following the tour, the members and guests enjoyed dinner at the Dutch Pantry, Route 71 and the Stringtown Road near Grove City.

Serving on the slate of officers for the coming year will be Roger Southward as first vice-president, Wayne Bisker as second vice president and Don Forquer as the club secretary.

Anniversary Awards were presented at the Sept. 29 meeting. The program was provided by Steve Cook.

Bill Glitt, chairman of the Boys and Girls Committee, announced that the committee had repaired the phones for football games, set up the sprinkling system for the high school football field and is now announcing the football games on WNRE radio for all Teays Valley football fans. Mr. Glitt is assisted by Bob Hoover on the broadcasts.

Pastor Robert Michelfelder of the First English Lutheran Church will be attending the Columbus Conference Fall Meeting Oct. 7. The meeting will be held at the Grace Lutheran Church in Thornville.

In the first place, most of the legislators don't want it. They've got campaigns back home. Republicans, fearing a Democratic gubernatorial victory, are extremely leery of a special session.

Secondly, GOP leaders are now referring to the report that has been drafted and will probably be released Monday as an "interim report," meaning it can be amended within the next few months if necessary.

The committee has been doing its drafting behind closed doors. This gave it plenty of time to draft a bill but to clean up some of his own pet projects.

Rhodes leaves office in January. He had let it be known that if the session was called he had "three or four" other items he wanted legislators to take up.

At this stage of the game, Republican leaders in the General Assembly want to remain on friendly terms with the governor but obviously do not want to stick their necks out too far.

Pollution will remain a top issue when the 109th General Assembly convenes next January.

Denison Bid For Position Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of David S. Denison Jr. of Warren, Ohio, as a member of the Federal Trade Commission, was opposed Thursday during a Senate Commerce Committee hearing.

Clarissa Cain, president of the Consumer Education and Protective Association, accused the Nixon administration of trying to ram through the nomination of a "mediocre finance company lawyer."

Denison, a 52-year-old, former one-term Republican congressman, was nominated to the FTC last week.

Howard Frazier, president of the Consumer Federation of America, echoed Mrs. Cain's opposition but did not criticize Denison personally.

Frazier told newsmen his group's main complaint was that it submitted eight names to the administration as possible nominees to replace outspoken Phillip Elman whose term expired, but the administration ignored them.

Denison breezed through his appearance before the committee Thursday, receiving praise from both Democrats and Republicans.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., questioned Denison about his financial holdings and law clients.

Denison assured the committee he is putting all his investments in a blind trust.

Rep. Tony Hall, D-87 Dayton, has said that if he is re-elected he will propose a bill to put all present environmental activities under one agency.

Hall's proposal would also establish three new agencies—environmental protection, pollution control and environmental quality.

The Ohio Water Development Authority, the Ohio Air Quality Authority and other environmental groups now in existence would be combined under one roof.

A Rio Grande College class in political parties and pressure groups did a Gallup-type poll of residents in Raccoon Twp. and discovered 65 per cent are registered to vote.

Forty-five per cent of those polled said they favored incumbent 10th Congressional District Rep. Clarence E. Miller. His opponent, Doug Arnett, drew 23 per cent while 32 per cent said they were undecided.

A local option election on the sale of alcoholic vendors got mixed by 50 per cent of those polled. Twenty-nine per cent voted wet while 29 per cent said they were undecided.

Rep. Robert Taft Jr. is worried about the effect the state loan scandal will have on his candidacy for the U.S. Senate. Taft told the New Philadelphia-Dover Times Reporter he is afraid it may hurt the GOP turnout at the polls.

"Some Republican voters," said Taft, "may be so discouraged that although they would not vote for Democrats they just might not go to the polls."

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lyon at Sterling have a gate at their front yard that is very original. It is made of odd-sized pieces of metal — horseshoes, pliers, a monkeywrench, springs a length of chain — all welded together and fastened to a square frame made of sections of pipe.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Raising Children A Thankless Job?

DEAR ABBY: We are in the process of raising four children, and have asked ourselves a thousand times, "Why are we doing it?" The only conclusion we can come to is that we didn't know any better than to have had them in the first place, and obviously we had rocks in our heads for ever thinking we wanted to be parents.

It's the most thankless job in the world. If every young couple would stop and ask themselves why they want children, and answer the question honestly, 9 out of 10 wouldn't have any.

After being a mother for more than 19 years, I honestly can't think of one good reason anyone would choose to be a mother.

MICHIGAN MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: If the truth were known (and there is no way of getting at home, com.), the number of children who were really "wanted" would probably be shockingly low. Many young couples want a "baby" without considering the headaches of rearing a child. You say, "Parenthood is the most thankless job in the world," as though a child should "thank" his parents for having had him. Children do not ask to be born, and they don't owe anyone (mother included) "thanks."

Parents become parents (or should) because they want children, but they should first seriously consider the responsibilities that go with parenthood. In answer to your question: YOU are raising four children because you had them.

DEAR ABBY: This problem concerns my bachelor brother, age 24. He is in the Navy. Last year he lived with a married woman (I'll call her Mary) for a while. Mary was separated from her husband. Shortly thereafter, Mary wrote and told my brother she was pregnant, and was divorcing her husband. Mary then telephoned my parents to inform them of the situation. Naturally they were upset.

Mary had the baby and my brother went to visit her to see if the baby resembled him as he wasn't sure the baby was his. He came home and said the baby looked like him but he didn't want to marry Mary. (He found out that she had had a child out of wedlock before her marriage and had given it away.)

My brother asked my parents if they would take Mary's newborn baby rather than have it given away to strangers. They flatly refused saying they could not be around forever.

My question: What legal obligations does my brother have to Mary and her new baby — if any? Please don't mention real names or cities.

BROTHER'S KEEPER, 1970 DEAR KEEPER: Your brother needs a "keeper," but he needs a good lawyer even more. Even though the baby "looks" like him, it may not be his. And if Mary was still legally married at the time of the baby's birth, the baby is legally her husband's, not your brother's. A man who is in the mess your brother is in needs a good attorney to advise him of his "rights" as well as obligations. And if he ever gets out of this one he should never go ashore without the chaplain.

DEAR READERS: I am continually receiving letters from readers who ask, "How can you give advice to parents on rearing children when you are an oldmaid yourself?" Or, "The lady next door told me that the picture you use with your column was taken around World War I." Others have asked, "Are you married? Have you ever been divorced? Do you have any children?"

I have on numerous occasions answered these questions in my column, but for those who apparently still do not know, I offer my vital statistics:

Abigail Van Buren is the pen name of my own choosing. I was born on the 4th of July in 1918. I am married to the same man I married in 1939. We have two grown offspring—a boy for you and a girl for me. The picture that appears with my column is a new one. (It's a passport picture.) I've never had plastic surgery, but I'm not saying I never will.

I stand five feet nothing and weigh 108 pounds and was raised on Iowa corn. (No remarks, please.)

Any more questions? SINCERELY, ABBY

Last-Ditch Delta Queen Fight Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although chances of success are virtually nil, Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, and Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., are making a last-ditch effort to save the riverboat Delta Queen.

Taft and Cook said Thursday they will try to recommit the merchant marine bill to a conference committee so that new conferees can be appointed—a move that seldom works.

House-Senate conferees stripped a Senate-passed provision exempting the sternwheeler from the safety at sea law from the bill Wednesday.

Unless the 46-year-old vessel is exempted from the law by Nov. 2, she will have to be converted to a daytime excursion boat, be drydocked or sold.

The law requires boats carrying 50 or more overnight passengers to have metal superstructures. The Queen is mostly wood.

Taft said he has sent letters to colleagues urging them to join him in his motion.

"It would be a tragedy to condemn her without even so much as a chance for the House to vote on the decision," he said. Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, D-Md., chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, blocked the exemption from reaching a vote on the House floor.

Cook won passage of an amendment in the Senate allowing the exemption, but he said he realized it would be difficult to overturn the decision of conferees.

4 Indicted In Wisconsin Bombing

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A federal grand jury investigating a fatal University of Wisconsin bombing has indicted four young men on the FBI's list of most-wanted fugitives.

U.S. Atty. John O. Olson said there had been no word on the men's whereabouts since two of them, Karleton Armstrong, 23, and his brother, Dwight, 19, were believed seen Sept. 3 in New York State. The others, Leo F. Burt, 22, and David S. Fine, 18, were last reported in Ontario.

A physics researcher was killed and three other persons injured when an explosion shattered the university's six-story Army Mathematics Research Center Aug. 24.

The indictment accuses the four young men of a civil rights violation by interfering with persons participating in a program at the University of Wisconsin receiving federal financial assistance. The maximum penalty for such a violation is life in prison. Four other counts charge damaging government property, conspiracy, using a destructive device to commit a felony, and possessing a destructive device.

U.S. Atty. John O. Olson said there had been no word on the men's whereabouts since two of them, Karleton Armstrong, 23, and his brother, Dwight, 19, were believed seen Sept. 3 in New York State. The others, Leo F. Burt, 22, and David S. Fine, 18, were last reported in Ontario.

A physics researcher was killed and three other persons injured when an explosion shattered the university's six-story Army Mathematics Research Center Aug. 24.

The indictment accuses the four young men of a civil rights violation by interfering with "persons participating in a program at the University of Wisconsin receiving federal financial assistance."

The maximum penalty for such a violation is life in prison. Four other counts charge damaging government property, conspiracy, using a destructive device to commit a felony, and possessing a destructive device.

Church Grants To Black Poor Sparks Violent Criticism

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In backing the upward struggle of the black poor, churches often meet stiff opposition from some white U.S. members. Now, however, such church action on an embattled, global front has collided head on with white governments in Africa.

"Shocking," says South Africa's Prime Minister B. J. Vorster of what he called aid "to terrorists." Other critics have accused the churches of abetting a new "hot war—1979 version."

It is the first time in modern history that Christian organizational funds have been officially allocated to rebel guerrilla movements—although at its outset Christianity itself was an illegal movement under the ancient Roman empire.

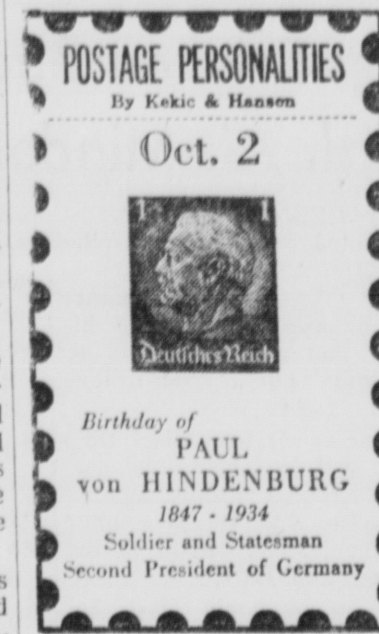

In making the grants, the World Council of Churches specified that the money be used only for welfare-educational needs, and the recipients agreed. But some of them are committed to armed resistance to ruling white regimes.

In South Africa, Vorster has threatened that "action would be taken" against denominations unless they divorced themselves from the cooperative council and its work.

Some have refused to do so. Protesters the "premier's threat against the Christian churches," the assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Southern Africa said "its only Lord and Master is Jesus Christ and it may not serve other masters."

Its "task is not necessarily to support the government in power but to be faithful to the gospel," the church said in defying the premier's order to quit the World Council. But it did register dissent about the grants.

So did the South African Council of Churches, including 14 other denominations belonging to the council, but they said they would not withdraw, declaring the grants were in response to "an unjust racial situation."

The grants, totaling $200,000 and ranging from $2,500 to $20,000 each, went to 19 organizations working against racism in Great Britain, the Netherlands, Japan, Australia, Columbia and in seven African countries.

These include rebel organizations fighting white rule in the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique and in white-ruled Rhodesia and South Africa, where predominantly black populations are under racial separation (apartheid) laws.

Jury Hears Guardsmen

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — The special state grand jury investigating four days of violence at Kent State University last May apparently heard testimony Wednesday from three Ohio National Guardsmen.

Richard Snyder and Russell E. Repp Jr., both of Wooster, and Richard R. Shade of Medina appeared at the Portage County Courthouse where the jury is meeting. The three are among 17 guardsmen subpoenaed in the probe which began Sept. 14.

The guardsmen were presumed to have told the jury about the incident May 4 when four students were killed and nine wounded during a clash between antiwar demonstrators and National Guard troops.

About 200 of the nearly 300 witnesses subpoenaed have already appeared before the grand jury, and Robert L. Bal-yeat of Lima, the special state attorney in charge of the probe, says the hearings are proceeding on schedule.

The jury is expected to take a couple of days to prepare findings after all the witnesses are heard. The hearings are expected to last about four weeks.

SPORTS

12 The Circleville Herald, Fri. Oct. 2, 1970
Circleville, Ohio

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

It used to be said that you couldn't tell the players without a scorecard but now the overlapping of sports has become so pronounced it's becoming difficult to tell the sport — let alone the players.

Baseball is right in the middle of determining qualifiers for the world series — football has put on the pads and hit them head on — basketballs are bouncing on the hardwoods — toss in golf and tennis — shake them all up — and you've got a conglomeration that even the most dedicated sports fan finds hard to consume.

He tries his best to keep everything in its proper perspective, gulping headache pills by the handful in an effort to maintain clear mental facilities for the task at hand.

Joe Fan switches channels on his monster tube with the rapidity of three lemons on a slot machine and finds a homerun being hit for a touchdown giving him a birdie and match set.

Maybe we should select 11 sports — give each a month of its own — and save one month for flogging sportswriters, sportscasters and coaches who mention anything out of season — this could turn out to be the biggest sport of them all.

In our listing of local gridders on the college fields we inadvertently omitted Westfall's Tony Lightle. Lightle is a member of the Akron University Zippers who are currently rated the No. 2 team in the small college polls.

Our little gem of information — One of the first professional football teams was church sponsored. St. Patrick's Catholic Church of Youngstown, Ohio, sponsored a full fledged pro team for three seasons beginning in 1915. The Patricians were proclaimed world champs after defeating Washington on Nov. 29, 1915.

Our "fearless" forecast . . . Circleville will take the wind out of the Wilmington Hurricane . . . The Teays Valley Vikings will tame the Falcons of Franklin Heights . . . Here we go again—Logan Elm will outdo the Mustangs of Westfall . . . Ohio States Buckeyes will really make Duke's Blue Devils blue . . . Slippery Rock State College will be too much for Shippensburg State . . . Alabama will be "Out-Manning-Ed" by Mississippi . . . Browns will bounce back against the Steelers . . . Bengals will stop the flow of the Oilers.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Reds Polish Off Braves; Win 102

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds completed their most successful season in 101 years Thursday defeating the Atlanta Braves 4-1 winning their 102nd ball game against 66 losses.

The Reds home attendance of 1,803,658 was the best in its history and second only this year to the New York Mets.

"I said when I came here it was the biggest thrill of my life to manage one of baseball's best four teams," said Red Manager Sparky Anderson.

The western division Reds open a best of five series Saturday against the Pirates at Pittsburgh. The winner will represent the National League in the World Series.

Anderson recalled that last spring he felt the best four teams were Cincinnati, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Baltimore.

"They told us we couldn't take six rookies north with us and win," laughed Anderson, "Now we have the last laugh."

The rookies were Dave Concepcion, Bernie Carbo, Hal McRae, Angel Bravo, Wayne Simpson and Don Gullett.

"I want to congratulate the Reds on a fine season," said Braves manager Luman Harris, "especially Sparky Anderson. He did a marvelous job. He had bad breaks like all of the rest of us but he kept his team together."

Pitcher Jim McGlothlin was lifted after the third inning suffering from a sore foot, the result of a peculiar accident Tuesday.

McGlothlin's wife, Jan, had him buy a 10 gallon milk can because she planned to decorate it with mementoes of the Reds 1970 season.

McGlothlin said he brought it to the Riverfront Stadium and as he was leaving he lifted it by the handle, which came off and the can smashed his shoe.

X-rays after the game indicated it was nothing serious, the Reds said.

Tony Perez, with his one hit, passed up Pete Rose for the Reds batting total with a .316 average. Rose is slightly over .315.

Bobby Tolan, who picked up his 57th stolen base, knocked in one run in the third inning and scored in the sixth. Tommy Helms doubled home two insurance runs in the eighth.

Henry Aaron hit his 38th homer of the year in the fourth inning off winning pitcher Ray Washburn (4-4).

Forecaster Picks Browns To Win

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — This could be the week for upsets in the National Football League when the ranks of the unbeaten could be reduced to the Los Angeles Rams, Detroit Lions, Minnesota Vikings and possibly the San Francisco 49ers.

It's a long weekend with two Saturday night games, 10 Sunday afternoon and the usual Monday night television feature. The Hand picker escaped with 8-4 last week to make it 15-10-1 for the year but form still is unsettled in the new merged league.

Here's the way it looks from this foggy perch.

Saturday night

Cleveland 23, Pittsburgh 10—Browns' air attack has to be hurting without Bill Nelsen but they have the big horses to do the job on the ground in Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott. Terry Bradshaw coming off a mild concussion and two losing games.

Miami 24, Oakland 21—Raiders are favored despite two tough struggles with Dolphins last year. Bob Griese hit with 'he big third down plays against Houston. Oakland defense has sagged against running game and yielded four scores on passes. Raiders still haven't found selves.

Sunday

Los Angeles 20, San Diego 10—A little blood may flow in this one between Southern California rivals. Rams are hurting for running backs and start Willie Ellison and Pat Duran. Chargers should get lift with return of Gene Foster but Rams defense should keep things under control.

Minnesota 30, Green Bay 14—Packers haven't beaten Vikings since 1967 and this isn't the time. With Bart Starr hurting it will be up to Don Horn to face the Purple Gang. Lots of luck.

St. Louis 28, Dallas 27—Maybe it's a miracle caused by MacArthur Lane's 146 yards against Washington but we're picking an upset win for the Cards. The Cowboys may blow somebody off the field one of these Sundays when they put it all together.

er. Still trouble in Cowboy country.

San Francisco 24, Atlanta 21—Scared of this one but going along with John Brodie on a hot streak. That Dutchman just may have found the combo in Atlanta, which finds itself in the unfamiliar role of favorite.

Kansas City 30, Denver 17—Chiefs looked like the Super Bowl champs with all-out effort against Colts. Although Broncos are 2-0 for the season they have beaten Kansas City only once in 20 league starts and that was way back in 1964, and are still juggling quarterbacks.

Baltimore 21, Boston 17—This could be the place for an upset victory by the Pats because the Colts took a beating from Chiefs and must go without John Unitas. Unless Colts are demoralized Earl Morrall should pull them.

New York Jets 27, Buffalo 7—Jets are getting sharper and Bills are dragging with battered defense and stalled offense. Maybe Dennis Shaw can light a fire but you have to go with Joe Namath, Matt Snell and Emerson Boozer.

Houston 17, Cincinnati 14—

Top-Ranked Bucks Clash With Air-Minded Duke

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes takes another shot Saturday at proving his theory that a solid rushing attack will whip a good college passing game.

Hayes sends top-ranked Ohio State, first in scoring and second in national rushing, against Duke. The Blue Devils counter with the leading passer in the country, Leo Hart.

The intersectional clash between the Buckeyes, 1-0, and the Blue Devils, 2-1, will draw another 85,000 fans in Ohio Stadium.

Hayes, who often has said two things bad and only one good can happen when you put the ball in air, was tickled over the 415-50 yard rushing bulge Ohio State earned in the 56-13 opening win over Texas A&M last week.

"You can have an interception or incompleteness—both bad—when you throw," Hayes said. "We gained more than eight times rushing as they did," he said. "That works two ways."

It shows our ground game was pretty doggone good and our defense against the rush was good too."

The Buckeye secondary, under a severe test for the second straight week, will be strengthened with the probable return of standout safety Mike Sensibaugh. He has been out with a broken foot.

Hart, a 195-pound senior who leads such stars as SMU's Chuck Hixson and Stanford's Jim Plunkett in national passing, is sure to probe the Ohio State defense.

His 62 completions in 102 tries have been good for 713 yards and two touchdowns in three games. Duke lost its opener to Florida 21-19 and bounced back to beat Maryland 13-12 and Virginia 17-7.

"He has 20-20 vision and a 20-20 arm, meaning he can throw from his own 20 to the opposing 20. And the ball doesn't even quiver," Ohio State scout Esco Sarkinen said of Hart.

James riddled the Buckeye secondary for 18 completions in 30 attempts and 271 yards and two touchdowns last week.

Duke should be at full strength. All-Atlantic Coast Conference linebacker Dick Biddle, hurt against Maryland, is back. So is tailback Bob Zwirko, who gained 504 yards in five games in 1969 and was injured in the opener.

If Sensibaugh plays, Ohio State will have all of its hands ready to seek its 24th victory in the last 25 games and 14th in a row in Ohio Stadium.

The teams have met twice, Duke winning 20-14 in 1955 and Ohio State 14-13 in 1959.

Cincinnati Bearcats To Host Tulane

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bearcats, ranked 12th nationally in both rushing and defense against scoring, host Tulane Friday night at Nippert Stadium which now has Astro-turf.

Both teams carry 2-1 marks and two-game winning streaks into the intersectional college football contest.

The Bearcats have averaged 270 rushing in their first three games and had limited the opposition to an average of eight points a game.

Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to play in the major leagues, was Rookie of the Year for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947.

Meet The Vikings

John Little (71, tackle, and Chris Brenton (89), end, are sophomore members of the Teays Valley High School football team. Little is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Little, Ashville, and Brenton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brenton, Route 1, Lockbourne.

Cubs, Jenkins Stop Mets As NL Season Winds Up

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs are a little bit richer today thanks to Ferguson Jenkins and the Philadelphia Phillies got a lift from Oscar Gamble to escape the embarrassment of the basement as the National League regular season came to a close.

Jenkins, the Cubs' hard-throwing right-hander, mowed down the New York Mets Thursday night on a two-hitter, nailing down second place in the East by a game over the defending world champions with a 4-1 victory.

The second place finish is worth approximately $1,300 per man while third is worth $400.

Jenkins, 22-6, a 20-game winner for four consecutive seasons, held the Mets hitless for six innings before Ken Singleton doubled opening the seventh. Singleton also doubled in the ninth.

The Cubs got a two-run single from Randy Hundley and Joe Pepitone's 26th homer, a two-run shot, in support of Jenkins, who struck out eight and walked two.

A crowd of 48,314 packed Shea Stadium, giving the Mets a home attendance mark of 2,697,479, the second best in major league history.

Gamble, the Phils center fielder, ripped a two-out, run-scoring single in the 10th inning, giving Philadelphia a 2-1 victory over Montreal before 31,832 in the final game ever to be played at Connie Mack Stadium.

The triumph lifted the Phils into fifth place, one-half game ahead of the Expos, who finished last.

Philadelphia moves into a new park next season. The 51-year-old stadium opened on April 12, 1969.

In other NL games, Cincinnati whipped Atlanta 4-1, Houston edged San Francisco 5-4, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis 9-5 and Los Angeles beat San Diego 7-4.

In the American League, Detroit nipped Cleveland 1-0, Minnesota blanked Kansas City 4-0, Baltimore nudged Washington 3-2, Oakland stopped Milwaukee 5-4 and California topped Chicago 5-4 in 13 innings. Boston and New York ended their schedule Wednesday.

Bobby Tolan knocked in one run with a double and Tommy Helms slammed a two-run double in the Reds triumph. Hank Aaron slugged his 38th homer for the Braves.

Houston won its seventh straight on Bob Watson's ninth inning, run-scoring single. The defeat pushed San Francisco into third place in the West behind runnerup Los Angeles.

Richie Hebner and Jerry May each drove in four runs in the Pirates rout. Hebner clouted a single and double while May cracked a three-run homer and sacrifice fly.

Willie Crawford drilled a run-scoring single, triggering a three-run Los Angeles sixth inning as the Dodgers clinched second place in the West. Nate Colbert slammed a two-run homer, his 38th, for the Padres.

It used to be said that you couldn't tell the players without a scorecard but now the overlapping of sports has become so pronounced it's becoming difficult to tell the sport — let alone the players.

Baseball is right in the middle of determining qualifiers for the world series — football has put on the pads and hit them head on — basketballs are bouncing on the hardwoods — toss in golf and tennis — shake them all up — and you've got a conglomeration that even the most dedicated sports fan finds hard to consume.

He tries his best to keep everything in its proper perspective, gulping headache pills by the handful in an effort to maintain clear mental facilities for the task at hand.

Joe Fan switches channels on his monster tube with the rapidity of three lemons on a slot machine and finds a homerun being hit for a touchdown giving him a birdie and match set.

Maybe we should select 11 sports — give each a month of its own — and save one month for flogging sportswriters, sportscasters and coaches who mention anything out of season — this could turn out to be the biggest sport of them all.

In our listing of local gridders on the college fields we inadvertently omitted Westfall's Tony Lightle. Lightle is a member of the Akron University Zippers who are currently rated the No. 2 team in the small college polls.

Our little gem of information — One of the first professional football teams was church sponsored. St. Patrick's Catholic Church of Youngstown, Ohio, sponsored a full fledged pro team for three seasons beginning in 1915. The Patricians were proclaimed world champs after defeating Washington on Nov. 29, 1915.

Our "fearless" forecast . . . Circleville will take the wind out of the Wilmington Hurricane . . . The Teays Valley Vikings will tame the Falcons of Franklin Heights . . . Here we go again—Logan Elm will outdo the Mustangs of Westfall . . . Ohio States Buckeyes will really make Duke's Blue Devils blue . . . Slippery Rock State College will be too much for Shippensburg State . . . Alabama will be "Out-Manning-Ed" by Mississippi . . . Browns will bounce back against the Steelers . . . Bengals will stop the flow of the Oilers.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Texas Goes Against UCLA In Top College Grid Action

Royal Fears Dummit.
That could be the headline for the Texas-UCLA clash as the Longhorns go after their 23rd straight victory in one of college football's leading games Saturday.

Darrell Royal, coach of Texas' defending national champions, says he is concerned about Dennis Dummit, the UCLA quarterback.

"He's a fine passer," Royal commented. "And he's throwing to somebody who can do something with it when he gets it."

Ralph Starkey Listed On WVU All-Time Team

Ralph Starkey, former Circleville Tiger, has been selected to the University of West Virginia post-1950 All-Time Team.

Starkey was an offensive tackle on the Mountaineer squads of 1952-53 under the tutelage of Art Lewis. He was captain of the team which included All-Americans Sam Huff and Bruce Bosley putting him in some pretty good company.

The team was selected by the WVU All-Time Selection Committee who named a 22-man squad.

Starkey was a member of the Circleville undefeated team of 1949 and played under the direction of Steve Brudzinski and Tom Bennett.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Starkey of Route 4.

Twins Face Baltimore Saturday

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins plotted simple strategy to challenge the favored Baltimore Orioles in the American League championship series that opens Saturday at Metropolitan Stadium.

Manager Bill Rigney practically concedes the Orioles will provide glittering pitching from left-handers Mike Cuellar, 24-3, and Dave McNally, 24-9, and right-hander Jim Palmer, 20-10.

"The secret of our winning is containing their hitters," said Rigney. "Our pitchers have got to hold them because we know they're going to throw good pitching. We have to match them."

Rigney sends his only ace, right-hander Jim Perry, 24-12, out to stop the major league's winningest team in the 4 p.m. EDT, opener against Cuellar.

Left-hander Tommy Hall, 11-6 with 184 strikeouts in 155 1/3 innings, opposes McNally at 4 p.m. Sunday. The best of 5 series moves to Baltimore Monday with Palmer going against rookie Bert Blyleven, 10-9.

Frank Len, Baltimore scout who spent this week checking out the Twins, agreed with Rigney's theory and said that the Orioles probably would have to take the same attitude.

"It's ridiculous that we are three-touchdown favorites," added the Texas coach, whose Longhorns now boast the current longest winning collegiate streak after Colorado shattered Penn State's string last week.

The Longhorns, ranked No. 2 to Ohio State in this week's Associated Press poll, tangle with the 13th-ranked Bruins at Austin, Tex.

The top-ranked Buckeyes are at home against the Duke Blue Devils in Columbus, Ohio, and Woody Hayes, the Ohio State mentor, figures his running game will offset any threat from Duke's passer, Leo Hart.

The national television game on ABC pits seventh-ranked Mississippi and Archie Manning against 17th-ranked Alabama and Scot Hunter in a night game at Jackson, Miss.

Other leading contests include Purdue at No. 3 Stanford, No. 4 Notre Dame at Michigan State, Oregon State at No. 5 Southern California, No. 6 Nebraska at Minnesota, No. 8 Colorado at Kansas State, Texas A&M at No. 9 Michigan and Colorado State at No. 10 Air Force.

The weekend program opens with two games tonight, Maryland at Miami (Fla.), and Tulane at Cincinnati.

Smith sped over the two-mile course in 10:11 for the new mark and a win over Steve Richards of the Tigers who placed second with a time of 10:19.

Bill McGowan (C) was third, Joe McGowan (C) fourth, Paul Cupp (C) fifth, Fred Rice (TV) sixth, John Ramsey (C) seventh, Pete McDaniel (C) eighth, Gary Spangler (C) ninth, Mike Combs (TV) 10th, Steve Bumgardner (TV) 11th and Carl Nevin (TV) 12th.

Coach John Lawhorn's Tigers are now 3-2 on the season and will see action Tuesday at Groveport. Meet time is 4:30 p.m.

Umps Meet To Consider Pay Offer

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of the Major League Umpires Association and their attorney, John Reynolds, met Thursday night in a Chicago hotel reportedly discussing baseball's latest pay offer to prevent a threatened strike.

The Chicago Sun-Times said the new offer was for $3,000 for the playoff series starting Saturday and $7,000 for the World Series.

The newspaper also said: "It seems quite likely that a strike will be averted... A compromise of $4,000 for the playoffs and $8,000 for the series may be acceptable to the umpires group."

Neither Reynolds nor an umpire representative could be reached while their private meetings were going on.

The umpires, paid $2,500 for playoffs and $6,500 for the series last year, are asking $5,000 and $10,000.

They have called a meeting of all 50 members gathered at the hotel for today, presumably for a strike vote or a vote on any compromise.

Flynn Robinson On Suspended List
CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association Thursday put holdout Flynn Robinson on the suspended list, removing him from the roster, and started looking for another guard.

The Royals started fining Robinson $500 per day for each day he did not report and Joe Axelson, general manager, said the total is now $7,500. The money will be deducted from Robinson's salary if ever an agreement is reached.

Robinson and Charlie Paulk came to Cincinnati from the Milwaukee Bucks in the controversial trade for Oscar Robertson.

CHS Harriers Down Vikings; New Mark Set

Circleville downed Teays Valley, 21-40, in a cross country meet, Thursday on the Tiger's course but honors went to the Vikings' Bob Smith who set a new school record.

Smith sped over the two-mile course in 10:11 for the new mark and a win over Steve Richards of the Tigers who placed second with a time of 10:19.

Bill McGowan (C) was third, Joe McGowan (C) fourth, Paul Cupp (C) fifth, Fred Rice (TV) sixth, John Ramsey (C) seventh, Pete McDaniel (C) eighth, Gary Spangler (C) ninth, Mike Combs (TV) 10th, Steve Bumgardner (TV) 11th and Carl Nevin (TV) 12th.

Coach John Lawhorn's Tigers are now 3-2 on the season and will see action Tuesday at Groveport. Meet time is 4:30 p.m.

Gary Nolan Leads Reds In Playoff

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Larry Shepard convinced Gary Nolan that he could be a big winner. The young Cincinnati Reds right hander took the cue and carries an 18-7 record to the mound Saturday in the National League playoff opener against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Gary had not been made to realize the kind of pitcher he was," Cincinnati pitching coach Shepard said. "I planted the seed this spring that he was our right-handed stopper."

Nolan's development as an all-round pitcher has given the Reds a solid one-two punch. Lefty Jim Merritt, who will start in the second playoff game Sunday, won 20 and lost 12 this year.

Cincinnati pilot Sparky Anderson credits Shepard, who managed Pittsburgh in 1968 and 1969, with much of Nolan's improvement.

"He's an outstanding pitcher now, just not a thrower," Anderson said. "He's developed a real good changeup. And he's become a man."

The first draft choice of the Reds in 1966 was a teen-aged pitching phenom in 1967, turning in a 14-8 record. Then two seasons of arm trouble plagued him.

OLD AND NEW — Joe Funk (40) models the new Circleville Junior High School football uniforms while John Johnson (32) shows the old torn and taped jobs. The Circleville Booster Club purchased the new uniforms and they were delivered this week. Funk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Funk, 360 E. Franklin St., and Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, 508 E. Ohio St.

Circleville Herald Invitational All-Star League

Newcomer Mark Clark rolled a 244 single game and 658 series Monday at Prairie Lanes and Bill Hammond also bowled a 244 game.

Clarks Team's 4 point win jumped them to first place with a 10 and 2 record ahead of shawnee Lanes 9 and 3.

Personality and Office Queen, both 3-year-olds, are considered the horses to beat in the two $100,000 stakes that headline Saturday's thoroughbred racing program.

Personality, winner of the Wood Memorial, Jersey Derby, Preakness and Jim Dandy, heads the probable starters in the Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park.

Office Queen, who has won seven stakes this season, will be pitted against nine other fillies and mares in the Matchmaker Stakes at Atlantic City.

Ohio College Win Streaks On Line In Big Grid Games

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo, Defiance, Wittenberg and Akron risk four of the longest college football winning streaks in the nation Saturday.

Toledo, at Ohio University for the defending champion Rockets' 1970 Mid-American Conference debut, ranks third behind Texas and San Diego State with its 14 triumphs in a row. Texas has won 21 in a row and San Diego 15.

Defiance, the 1969 Mid-Ohio Conference ruler starting its league campaign at home against Findlay, owns 16 straight victories, tops among the nation's small colleges.

Wittenberg ranks second with 13 triumphs in a row and Akron fourth with 10 straight verdicts among the smaller schools. Carthage, Wis., College is third with 11 in a row.

Wittenberg opens its Ohio Conference campaign at home against Otterbein in one of six league contests.

Other Ohio conference contests have Mount Union at Wooster, Marietta at Kenyon, Denison at Capital in day battles and Hiram at Heidelberg and Muskingum at Baldwin - Wallace at night.

Besides the Findlay-Defiance match, Wilmington goes to Bluffton in another Mid-Ohio Conference game. The host Beavers have dropped 13 straight contests.

While Duke travels to top-ranked Ohio State, Bowling Green visits Western Michigan in a Mid-American assignment. Kent State is at Pittsburgh, Northern Illinois at Miami and Louisville at Dayton.

Toledo hasn't played a Mid-American game, yet the deep, experienced Rockets are top heavy favorites to win the crown for the third time in the last four seasons.

Hub of the Rocket attack is junior quarterback Chuck Ealey whose four touchdown passes against Marshall last week tied a league record.

Ohio's Bill Hess has gone back to an inside power ground game. Sophomore Bill Gary is the main spoke and he ranks second in the league with 260 rushing yards in two games.

Elsewhere, John Carroll is at Case Western Reserve, Akron at Ball State, Oberlin at Carnegie Mellon, Ohio Northern at Taylor, Ohio Wesleyan at William and Mary and Tampa at Youngstown and Central State at Ashland in two night games.

Beman Leads Azalea Open

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — "It was an easy round," said Deane Beman after he tied the course record with an eight-under-par 63 Thursday to take the first round lead in the Azalea Open Golf Tournament.

Beman, whose approach shots were deadly, had eight birdies and 10 pars in his 30-33 round, which equaled the record on the 6,575-yard Cape Fear Country Club course.

Seventy of the 144 players broke par 71 as the course took a terrific beating the first day.

Wilf Homeniuk and George Johnson, seeking their first PGA tour victories, were tied for second with 65. Homeniuk, who played the back nine first, roared away with six straight birdies and then leveled off with 12 pars in his 36-29 round. Johnson shot 34-31 with six birdies and 12 pars.

"I came so close to birdies on other holes," said Beman, who missed only one green in regulation. That was on the par four seventh, where he chipped up and got down for his par.

Defending champion Dale Douglass was six strokes off the pace at 69.

Five players were grouped at 66. They were Cesar Sanudo, Joe Campbell, Al Balding, Bobby Mitchell and Martin Roessink.

Ernie Banks' five grand slam homers for the Chicago Cubs in 1955 is a major league record.

Circleville downed Teays Valley, 21-40, in a cross country meet; Thursday on the Tiger's course but honors went to the Vikings' Bob Smith who set a new school record.

Smith sped over the two-mile course in 10:11 for the new mark and a win over Steve Richards of the Tigers who placed second with a time of 10:19.

Bill McGowan (C) was third, Joe McGowan (C) fourth, Paul Cupp (C) fifth, Fred Rice (TV) sixth, John Ramsey (C) seventh, Pete McDaniel (C) eighth, Gary Spangler (C) ninth, Mike Combs (TV) 10th, Steve Bumgardner (TV) 11th and Carl Nevin (TV) 12th.

Coach John Lawhorn's Tigers are now 3-2 on the season and will see action Tuesday at Groveport. Meet time is 4:30 p.m.

Gary Nolan Leads Reds In Playoff

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Larry Shepard convinced Gary Nolan that he could be a big winner. The young Cincinnati Reds right hander took the cue and carries an 18-7 record to the mound Saturday in the National League playoff opener against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Gary had not been made to realize the kind of pitcher he was," Cincinnati pitching coach Shepard said. "I planted the seed this spring that he was our right-handed stopper."

Nolan's development as an all-around pitcher has given the Reds a solid one-two punch. Lefty Jim Merritt, who will start in the second playoff game Sunday, won 20 and lost 12 this year.

Cincinnati pilot Sparky Anderson credits Shepard, who managed Pittsburgh in 1968 and 1969, with much of Nolan's improvement.

"He's an outstanding pitcher now, just not a thrower," Anderson said. "He's developed a real good changeup. And he's become a man."

The first draft choice of the Reds in 1966 was a teenaged pitching phenom in 1967, turning in a 14-8 record. Then two seasons of arm trouble plagued him.

OLD AND NEW — Joe Funk (40) models the new Circleville Junior High School football uniform while John Johnson (32) shows the old torn and taped jobs. The Circleville Booster Club purchased the new uniforms and they were delivered this week. Funk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Funk, 360 E. Franklin St., and Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, 508 E. Ohio St.

Personality and Office Queen, both 3-year-olds, are considered the horses to beat in the two $100,000 stakes that headline Saturday's thoroughbred racing program.

Personality, winner of the Wood Memorial, Jersey Derby, Preakness and Jim Dandy, heads the probable starters in the Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park.

Ohio College Win Streaks On Line In Big Grid Games

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo, Defiance, Wittenberg and Akron risk four of the longest college football winning streaks in the nation Saturday.

Toledo, at Ohio University for the defending champion Rockets' 1970 Mid-American Conference debut, ranks third behind Texas and San Diego State with its 14 triumphs in a row. Texas has won 22 in a row and San Diego 15.

Defiance, the 1969 Mid-Ohio Conference ruler starting its league campaign at home against Findlay, owns 16 straight victories, tops among the nation's small colleges.

Wittenberg ranks second with 13 triumphs in a row and Akron fourth with 10 straight verdicts among the smaller schools. Carthage, Wis., College is third with 11 in a row.

Wittenberg opens its Ohio Conference campaign at home against Otterbein in one of six league contests.

Other Ohio conference contests have Mount Union at Wooster, Marietta at Kenyon, Denison at Capital in day battles and Hiram at Heidelberg and Muskingum at Baldwin - Wallace at night.

Besides the Findlay-Defiance match, Wilmington goes to Bluffton in another Mid-Ohio Conference game. The host Beavers have dropped 13 straight contests.

While Duke travels to top-ranked Ohio State, Bowling Green visits Western Michigan in a Mid-American assignment, Kent State is at Pittsburgh, Northern Illinois at Miami and Louisville at Dayton.

Toledo hasn't played a Mid-American game, yet the deep, experienced Rockets are top-heavy favorites to win the crown for the third time in the last four seasons.

Hub of the Rocket attack is junior quarterback Chuck Ealey whose four touchdown passes against Marshall last week tied a league record.

Ohio's Bill Hess has gone back to an inside power ground game. Sophomore Bill Gary is the main spoke and he ranks second in the league with 260 rushing yards in two games.

Elsewhere, John Carroll is at Case Western Reserve, Akron at Ball State, Oberlin at Carnegie Mellon, Ohio Northern at Taylor, Ohio Wesleyan at William and Mary and Tampa at Youngstown and Central State at Ashland in two night games.

Beman Leads Azalea Open

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — "It was an easy round," said Deane Beman after he tied the course record with an eight-under-par 63 Thursday to take the first round lead in the Azalea Open Golf Tournament.

Beman, whose approach shots were deadly, had eight birdies and 10 pars in his 30-33 round, which equaled the record on the 6,575-yard Cape Fear Country Club course.

Seventy of the 144 players broke par 71 as the course took a terrific beating the first day.

Wilf Homeniuk and George Johnson, seeking their first PGA tour victories, were tied for second with 65s. Homeniuk, who played the back nine first, roared away with six straight birdies and then leveled off with 12 pars in his 36-29 round. Johnson shot 34-31 with six birdies and 12 pars.

"I came so close to birdies on other holes," said Beman, who missed only one green in regulation. That was on the par four seventh, where he chipped up and got down for his par.

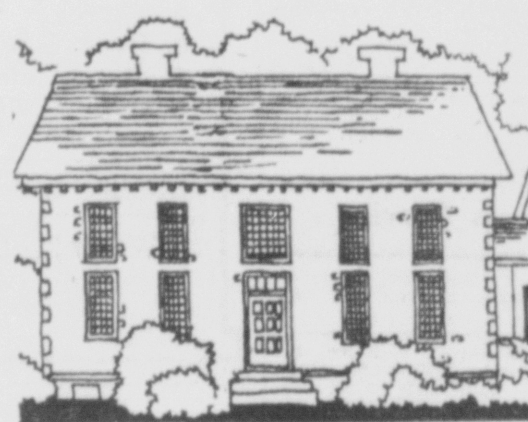

Defending champion Dale Douglass was six strokes off the pace at 69.

Five players were grouped at 66. They were Cesar Sanudo, Joe Campbell, Al Balding, Bobby Mitchell and Martin Roesink.

Ernie Banks' five grand slam homers for the Chicago Cubs in 1955 is a major league record.

Ashville Couple Appointed Student Ambassador Leaders

MR. AND MRS. ROGER SOUTHWARD

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Southward of Ashville have been appointed leaders in this area for the People to People High School Student Ambassador Program to Europe in the summer of 1971.

The appointment was made by the Educational Travel Institute and People to People.

The Student Ambassador Program was organized in 1956 by President Eisenhower who said, "The aim is to build a massive program of communications between Americans and the citizens of other lands — to establish lasting two-way relationships from which international friendship and understanding could grow. The technique is to be direct, through people to people, as distinct from official government contacts."

The newly-appointed area leaders, recommended by school officials to the program, are both employed by the Southwestern School District. Mr. Southward is a mathematics teacher at Franklin Heights and Mrs. Southward is the school psychologist. They have scheduled the first in a series of information meetings Oct. 8 and 12, for interested students and their parents.

YOUNG people in high school who feel they are capable of representing and speaking for our country abroad, who feel they can create goodwill and are interested in visiting the historical and cultural sights of Europe, as well, may contact Mr. and Mrs. Southward at 125 Maple St. in Ashville or by phone, 983-3465.

Participating students will have the opportunity to see schools at work, meet with students their own age and live in homes for a few days at a time in four countries.

The ambassadors will assemble in Washington D. C. at the beginning of the project where they will be briefed by U.S. State Department officials and members of the Educational Travel Institute.

Countries included on the 1971 itinerary are England, France, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, the low countries and Scotland.

Mr. and Mrs. Southward will conduct orientation sessions prior to departure. Discussions will be held on the various countries to be visited including the government, cultural and historical backgrounds and major industries of these countries.

Dr. Martin Essex, state superintendent of schools in Ohio, is a member of the Educational Travel Institute which sponsors the High School Ambassador Program. President of the institute is Dr. J. Cloyd Miller, a former university president and formerly president of the National Education Assn.

President Nixon serves as honorary chairman of the board of directors.

Arabs Continue To Mourn Sudden Death Of Nasser

CAIRO (AP) — Prayers for the repose of the soul of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser were said in 20,000 mosques all over Egypt today, the Moslem holy day and the day after Nasser's tumultuous funeral.

Islamic priests gave their sermons on the greatness of Nasser, who died Monday of a heart attack, leaving the Arab world without its chief unifying force.

A quiet fell today in Cairo, where an estimated three million persons packed the streets in hysterical crowds to see the funeral cortege Thursday.

Trees snapped by the crush of mobs and climbers hoping for a view of Nasser's passing coffin lay on the sidewalks.

Egyptians walked in large numbers to their local mosques for services.

In the early hours today, only a small honor guard watched over Nasser's mausoleum in the gardens of Nasser Mosque in Cairo's suburbs. However, as the sun rose, Egyptians began gathering around the mosque.

Speculation in Beirut, meanwhile, was that Nasser's political heirs would set up a presidency council to rule in place of acting President Anwar Sadat. Designed to head off a divisive power struggle, the council would include Sadat; Ali Sabry, secretary general of the Arab Socialist Union; Hussein Shafi, the army's commander-in-chief and war minister.

In London, the Daily Telegraph reported under a Cairo dateline that the army had taken control of Egypt under orders from Nasser's successors. The newspaper said police have rounded up large numbers of extremists.

Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev praised Nasser as a "great patriot ... and a wise government leader."

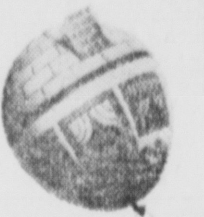

Brezhnev promised the Arab world continued "complete support" from the Soviet Union.

Brezhnev, in a nationwide television speech from Baku on the Caspian Sea, said he was sure the new Egyptian leadership would "carry on with honor the cause of the late president."

Liberation Radio said Viet Cong flags were flying at half staff in Nasser's honor.

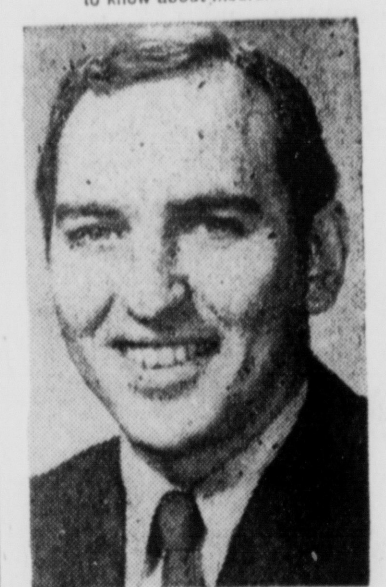

An Egyptian government spokesman denied reports that Sadat and Sabry had suffered heart attacks during the funeral.

Cool Weather Is Warning To Inspect Home Heating

With Roundtown receiving what can be called our "Pumpkin Show weather," Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe issued his warning to local residents regarding furnaces and heating appliances which may be defective.

A few minutes of do-it-yourself attention to home heating systems before winter begins can pay off in reduced heating costs, added comfort and increased safety when cold weather arrives, Wolfe reminded citizens today.

The Fire Chief outlined several quick tests and routine maintenance procedures that anyone can perform, but cautioned residents not to attempt to correct deficiencies in their home heating systems themselves. Instead, they should call a qualified heating contractor.

He also pointed out that now is the time to check your home heating equipment. Heating contractors usually are busiest when cold weather arrives. Those who wait too long for inspection and repairs may face long, dangerous delays.

"HOME accidents involving heating appliances occur chiefly because people fail to take simple precautions and use common sense," Chief Wolfe said.

He especially urged those who

State Patrol Notes Business In September

Circleville's post of the Ohio Highway Patrol is here to serve the motoring public and is doing its job well according to figures released today on September's activities at the local station.

One fatal accident occurred in the two county area covered by the Circleville Patrol with one person, a pedestrian, killed. Twenty-nine motorists and passengers received injuries in 17 of the accidents investigated. A total of 79 accidents occurred that were placed under the post's jurisdiction.

Traffic arrests reached a total of 642, of which 35 were apprehended for driving while intoxicated.

Motor vehicles stopped for a highway inspection numbered 667. Only eight per cent, or 52 autos, passed. Written warnings to get defective parts repaired were issued to 615.

Patrolmen assisted 536 stranded motorists during September and handed some 29 case reports which involve stolen cars, assault and similar offenses.

Ohio Fuel Gas Seeks Rate Increase

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. asked the Federal Power Commission in Washington Thursday (Oct. 1) for permission to increase the wholesale rates for natural gas it charges Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., and 25 other gas companies in Ohio.

W. F. Laird, Columbus, president of Ohio Fuel, said that the increase, which would total $33,332,600 — or 13 per cent — annually in revenue was requested to offset increases in the cost of gas to Ohio Fuel from major suppliers and other increased operating costs caused by the continuing inflationary trend.

Increases in the cost of gas charged by Ohio Fuel are reflected in rates Columbia Gas of Ohio charges its customers. If the request is approved by the FPC, it would mean an increase of about 93 cents per month in the gas bill of an average customer served by Columbia Gas of Ohio.

Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company, Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, Texas Gas Transmission Corporation, United Fuel Gas Company and Manufacturers Light and Heat Company have filed for increased rates and all of these companies are suppliers of Ohio Fuel.

Other reasons cited by Laird for requesting the new rates include increases in the costs of labor, supplies, construction, taxes, other operations and increased costs to Ohio Fuel in obtaining capital for construction. Ohio Fuel is asking for a rate of return of 8 1/2 per cent.

Ohio Fuel is asking that the increase be put into effect not later than April 1, 1971.

"HOME accidents involving heating appliances occur chiefly because people fail to take simple precautions and use common sense," Chief Wolfe said.

He especially urged those who have moved into new residences to become familiar with their heating equipment.

It is wise to check filters on forced air furnaces and replace them if they are dirty. Filters should be changed at least twice during the cold weather use. Lightweight motor oil should be used to lubricate the furnace fan or the pump on hot water circulating heating units. This should be done at least three times a year.

Residents are cautioned that oily rags used in the chore should be discarded because of the danger in storage of combustible material in a furnace room.

Chief Wolfe went on to recommend some other do-it-yourself inspections and tests.

Make certain all heating equipment is properly vented.

HOLD a hand mirror inside the chimney at clean-out opening or at the lowest vent pipe connection. Reflected light from the sky should be observed. If the chimney is clear of obstructions.

Blow smoke into the chimney opening to see if it is drawing well.

Examine bent pipes to make certain they fit snugly into the chimney and are sealed properly.

Check to be sure that the vent pipe goes up, not down, from the heating equipment to the chimney.

If a metal venting system is used, be certain it meets fire code requirements and extends above the roof line of the home and has a vent cap on top.

Turn up the thermostat and wait until warm air begins to flow, then turn it down and listen for the blower to shut itself off. If the unit passes this quick test, the pilot light is on and the thermostat and blower are in working order.

Chief Wolfe warned that heating equipment that fails any of the tests or inspections should be checked and repaired by a competent repairman immediately.
